GAZAN EXODUS BEGINS AFTER ISRAEL ORDERS 1.1 MN CIVILIAN EVACUATION

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

INDICATING its ground offensive against Hamas militants was about to take off, Israel on Friday ordered more than 11 lakh civilians living in northern Gaza to move to the south within 24 hours. Later in the day, Israeli forces said they had carried out localised raids in multiple areas in Gaza.

Hours after the order, thousands of scared Palestinians began moving to the south with their possessions by whatever means possible — cars, trucks or donkey carts. Others hesitated to leave, fearing nowhere was safe. Gaza continues to be sealed off from food, water and medical supplies and is under a total power blackout.

The UN criticised the evacuation order, which covers Gaza City. It said the human displacement would be calamitous and urged Israel to reverse the order. It also warned that such an evacuation would lead to Gaza's entire population cramming into roughly the southern half of the 40-km-long strip.

13 HOSTAGES KILLED IN ISRAELI ATTACK: HAMAS

Hamas claimed on Friday that Israel's heavy bombardment of the Gaza Strip has killed 13 hostages, including foreigners. It did not give the nationality of the foreigners. There has been no confirmation from Israel

The US, which promised unwavering support to Israel in its operation against Hamas, also shared its concerns. "It's a million people, and it's a very urban, dense environment. It's already a combat zone," US National Security Council Spokesperson John Kirby said.

Hamas, which has in the past been accused of using civilians as human shields, asked the Gaza residents to stay put, saying the Israeli order was a ploy to divide Gaza. "Hold onto your land," it urged the people.

As per Israeli officials, the aim of the looming ground offensive is dismantling Hamas' terror infrastructure, much of which is buried underground.

Time to walk together for peace: Modi

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR AND YESHI SELI @New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Friday said terrorism anywhere and in any form is against humanity. His remarks came in the wake of the Israel-Hamas conflict that has already killed thousands of innocent people on both sides of the Gaza Strip.

Modi said it is time for peace and brotherhood and to move forward while walking together. It brought back memories of him telling Russian President Vladimir Putin just about a year ago, "Now is not a time for war," his the context of the Ukraine conflict.

Recalling that India has faced cross-border terrorism for decades, he said, "No matter where terrorism occurs, for whatever reason, in whatever form, it is against humanity." He made the point in his inaugural address at the 9th G20 Parliamentary Speakers' Summit here.

Meanwhile, a flight from Tel Aviv brought the first batch of 212 Indians, including an infant, to Delhi. There was a long queue of Indians, including students, at the Ben Gurion airport to board the special flight under Operation Ajay from the Israeli capital.

Fans turn to cloakrooms, dorms before India-Pak tie

GOMESH S @Ahmedabad

IT'S about 11 am here on Friday. Golu Singh is getting ready for what's to come at the Ahmedabad Junction. He is an attendant with Umiya Enterprise, the contractor who runs the cloakroom in the city's biggest railway station. With the much-anticipated India-Pakistan match a day away, Singh is expecting busy business.

Ever since the fixtures were announced in June, the contest between the arch-rivals has been the biggest talking point. The hotel prices surged multifold and so did the airfare. To give a perspective, the hotels that used to cost about ₹2,000 were charging at least ₹25,000 and it got dearer as dates came closer. There were reports that fans even resorted to booking hospital beds.

That's not all. Several auto rickshaws have turned their vehicles into luggage-holding facilities during the game. As per the agreement, they will drop fans to the stadium before safeguarding the luggage. Nish Navalkar, who runs a social media marketing company in Mumbai, did something else. As part of a large travelling group, he decided to book the AC dormitory/retiring room at the railway station.

"This system is all over India. When you book a dorm, they give you a locker as well. If we don't get a locker, we will use the cloakroom or tie up the luggage to our beds. Since dorm was for men, I had to book IRCTC AC lounge for my wife. It cost ₹1400 for 24 hrs. For the lounge, it is ₹50 per hour," says Navalkar.

Online portal for grievance redressal to be active from next academic yr: Minister

Will work on streamlining process for all grades to avoid delay in process: MC Sudhakar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IN order to make the complaint redressal system transparent, the KEA will be working on an online portal for students and parents to register their complaints. Complaints can be registered through this portal, and an appointment will be given so that students don't have to wait in long queues outside KEA, announced Minister for Higher Education, Dr MC Sudhakar, on Friday.

Dr Sudhakar was speaking on the sidelines of his visit to KEA on Friday where he interacted with students and parents along with Ramya S, Executive Director, KEA.

He added that the department is also working on an app which will work as a guide to explain the entire admission process including information on different rounds, registration process, fee payments and who to approach for different issues.

The minister emphasized that before the next academic year (2023-2024) begins, a joint meeting will be conducted with the Primary Education and Literacy Minister, Madhu Bangarappa and Medical Education Minister, Dr Sharanaparakash Patil to streamline the process for all grades and avoid delays in the admissions and exam process.

He added, "There should be uniformity in UG and PG semester examinations. It will help students to appear for competitive exams and not miss them for semester exams." He added that The Karnataka State Higher Education Council will submit a report on the feasibility of the schedule.

He further said, "We are waiting for the Court's conformation for fee regulation committee. from our side we've recommended Justice Sreenivas Gowda as the head, as soon as the order confirms it, the committee will be active."

Meanwhile 93,000 engineering seats have been filled and 2,700 are vacant. One last MOP-UP Round will reflect the vacancy for the current academic year.

Case registered against fake portals

KEA has registered three cases of fraud. Students were misled through fake portals and agents to secure admission in the colleges. Police complaints have been registered for two cases. On Friday a girl who secured a seat in BMCRI for MBBS was asked to pay Rs 70,000 to confirm her seat, however KEA said all processes should happen through the official portal and incidents such as these should be reported immediately.

State govt looking at Bengaluru tunnel roads project blind-folded

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

WHILE the state government is planning to dig tunnels 14-15 metres underground as part of the ambitious 195-Km-long tunnel road network for Bengaluru, experts are shocked at such a plan being considered without understanding the city's subterranean features.

The experts, requesting anonymity, have questioned the state government's decision to go ahead with the project, while questioning whether they are ready with a report with complete details of the underground features of the city. The state government is planning to call for tenders for the project in the next 38 days.

SUBTERRANEAN PLAN PART 2

According to a scientist from Indian Institute of Science (IISc), who is familiar with how the state government is going about the project, the latter is impressed by the success of tunnel roads in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. However, geologists that The New Indian Express spoke to have pointed out that there is a marked difference between the subterranean features and crustal characteristics of that city and Bengaluru.

Geologists from IISc said the rocky terrain of South India, including Bengaluru, is very complex. In some places there are Dolerite rocks, some other places, granite. Some places have loose soil while elsewhere it's clay. They cited the incident of the road caving in near Brigade Road where Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) and Metro works were simultaneously progressing some days ago. "The road had caved in, leaving a motorist injured. Digging tunnels for Metro takes a very long time, besides the blades of the tunnel boring machines (TBMs) have to be changed at regular intervals. Not many know that in some places the earth is filled with construction debris as was the case in Lakkasandra. There is a need for a proper recce before even considering such a project. The city is not ready for tunnel roads," said a geologist from IISc.

Considering the hard subterranean features, the geologists have asked the state government to consider comparing how much time it had taken for the TBMs to bore the Metro tunnels, and calculate how much more time it would take for the same to drill 195 Km under Bengaluru. Besides, they also pointed to the damages that have occurred during the execution of the TenderSure footpath works while trying to shift utilities.

A senior official from the Mines and Geology Department said the state government has never undertaken an underground truth-finding study of the terrain, rock and soil. The only sample-based studies that are conducted are when projects like flyovers and underpasses are constructed. A thorough assessment of the overall carrying capacity and soil and rock strength of Bengaluru has never been undertaken.

Although Bengaluru is not in the seismic zone, the impact of deep excavations for foundations for high-rise buildings, Metro tunnels and pillars is already being felt in pockets of Bengaluru where roads are either caving in or sinking, besides water seepage being reported.

According to the urban development department, the BBMP will be executing the tunnel road project. But a senior BBMP official, privy to the project plans, admitted to TNIE that there are no underground maps of the water and sewage pipelines for immediate implementation. "The company which will be awarded with the tender for preparing the detailed project report and to implement the project will have to undertake underground studies, and then act accordingly," the official said, adding that it would be a difficult proposition.

BBMP Forest Department officials along with contractors and schoolchildren plant saplings at Bommanahalli Zone in Bengaluru, on Friday

'Green B'luru' drive: 91,400 trees planted

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

WITH the direction from Deputy Chief Minister and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar to plant more tree saplings and give ownership to schoolchildren for nurturing the saplings under the 'Green Bengaluru' initiative, BBMP has planted 91,400 saplings since June.

The target was one lakh and the Palike will plant the remaining 8,400 saplings at the earliest, said BLG Swamy, Deputy Conservator of Forest (DCF), BBMP.

Tree saplings like Mahogany, Pongamia, Margoa, Jamun, Wild Badam, Indian Charcoal, Tabebuia Rosea, Tabebuia Avellanedae and Tabebuia Argentea were planted in eight zones of BBMP. The hired agency will have to take care of the saplings for three years.

"The project was launched in June following the direction from the DyCM. Contractors supplied 10 feet-high saplings and was planted on medians and the roadside. Primary and high schoolchildren from nearby schools were roped in, and a tag was put around the tree guard with the name of the children. The concept is to bring awareness about the environment. The children will take care of the saplings regularly and in case of damage to the saplings, they will report it to their school headmasters. The school authorities will then inform the BBMP forest division or the contractor and the issue will be fixed at the earliest," said Chandrappa V, Range Forest Officer (RFO), Yelahanka Zone.

Earlier in June, during the World Environment Day program at Rachenahalli Lake premises, DyCM DK Shivakumar had stated that plans should be made to increase the green cover in the City as the place was synonymous with greenery. Based on his direction, Palike is planting one lakh tree saplings as part of the 'Green Bengaluru' initiative.

RERA-K slaps ₹ 1.8 cr fine on promoter for violating orders

Krsna Laburnum apartment in Dollars Colony against which RERA-K has imposed a penalty of Rs 1.8 crore

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

THE Real Estate Regulatory Authority of Karnataka (RERA-K) has slapped a fine of Rs 1.8 crore on the promoter of the upscale 'Krsna Laburnum' residential project in Dollars Colony. This penalty comes in light of the promoter's failure to comply with a previous restraining order, among other issues.

The promoter in question is Dr K Balaraman. Planned in 2014, the project's 46 apartment units were supposed to be handed over to the buyers by 2016 and 2017, but that deadline was never met. Prices for the units ranged from Rs 2 crore for a 3BHK, to Rs 2.5 crore for a 4BHK.

Advocate Prashanth Mirle, who is representing the aggrieved home-buyers said, "The promoter has blatantly violated a prior RERA directive that had explicitly prohibited the sale of any more residential units. He also exploited a large common area -- 16,000 square feet -- to construct additional apartments without securing approvals, leaving homeowners with no alternatives, but to reluctantly accept the current state of affairs."

TNIE has obtained a copy of the RERA order issued on October 9, which specifies penalty for violations under Sections 60 and 61 of the RERA Act. The order has also restrained the promoter from conducting any further transactions involving the project's unsold units.

The complainant association has been empowered to take over the project for completion of pending works as per the order.

Krishnam Raju and his wife are the only residents living here now. "My wife and I are both over 70 years of age, and we are struggling because the apartment building we moved into is not finished. With no power or water connections given here yet, we are storing water in a tank in an empty apartment above us and are using a temporary power source. We cannot afford to live anywhere else, because we do not have much money. We are relieved that RERA has stepped in," they said. Right now, living here alone in this big, unfinished building is really scary, he added.

In case the builder does not pay the penalty within the reasonable time, legal action will be taken to recover the same, the advocate added.

The RERA order has also instructed that the developer's bank account be frozen and for the bank manager to be notified of the same.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

14th October: It's a businesslike day, astrologically speaking. That's a statement which concerns all of us, no matter what our individual stars say. So, whatever else you do today, remember that there'll always come a point at which you may have to put your fantasies to one side and stick to the facts - even if only for five minutes!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
A sudden change in your stars, towards an alignment which is very much more relaxed and supportive, should come at exactly the right moment to help you begin your life anew. As trologically, the rest of your life begins here! I can't say fairer than that!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You are not regarded as a natural nomad, but one way or another your stars do seem to be rather unsettling. So, although today's planets favour a domesticated life, do what you can to make your home that much more colourful! Keep busy but don't let partners exploit your goodwill.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
It may come as a surprise to you that the sign of the zodiac responsible for your legendary talkativeness, is Leo. That is why your current colourful planets are trying to tell you to get out and meet as many people as you possi-bly can, as soon as you can.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Take as much time and expend as much effort as is necessary to repair a damaged relationship. Even if a personal rupture seems to be for the good, don't imagine for one moment that it is all done and finished with! Whatever happens now could take a new twist in three months' time.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
As if by magic, the Moon comes to your rescue, helping you make up your mind. This happens once a month, but this time around the change in your mood could be quite dramatic and, over the next few days, you could experience a sudden surge of confidence and optimism.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
After a brief social spell you may be ready to spend a little time by yourself. Actually, it will be a good idea to re-charge your emotional batteries ready for what should be a fine start to the coming week. If you're keeping a secret, you may blurt it out tomorrow.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
One thing you can say about the recent past is that at least your skills in crisis management have been refined and, in some cases, wrought to perfection. Now you may relax and enjoy any pleasant social encounters conferred by the Moon in friendly regions of your chart.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Play to win today. There can be no coming second place, whether your goals are professional, financial or romantic. At the very least you should aim to exceed your own personal best. Some people say that it's more important to compete than come top, but you could still do with some extra applause!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Today's energetic Moon is just the ingredient required to make the whole world seem a much more compatible place. After today, you should begin to feel more comfortable with the direction that life, especially on the personal level, is going.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
The fact that there is so little new taking place in your chart today should come as a relief, for you should be able to begin to digest the many lessons still to be learnt from recent upsets and opportunities. The next two months, by the way, present extraordinarily good opportunities in all areas. Couldn't be better!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Listen very carefully indeed to partners' little words of wisdom. They may be critical, but the fact is that you stand in need of truthful comment about what you are doing wrong - as well as praise for what you are doing right. You may even soon have cause to thank a rival!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Turn to favourite interests which you have either ignored for too long, or even completely abandoned. You may have been too bound up with other people's problems recently, and it could be very valuable indeed to focus once more on what is important to you, rather than to what makes sense to them.

Woman bites PSI, throws footwear at ASI inside Adugodi police station

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

HIGH drama prevailed at the city's Adugodi police station for almost 3 hours in the wee hours of Thursday after a woman bit a woman police sub-inspector (WPSI) and threw a footwear at an Assistant Sub-Inspector (ASI).

The woman, who was found loitering on the 4th floor of Nexus Mall at 2.30 am on Thursday by the guards, was requested to leave. But, she reportedly started abusing them and also started making false accusations against them which forced the mall's manager to call 112 for help.

The jurisdictional Adugodi police rushed to the mall and requested her to return home. The police, however, took her to the station as she started abusing them.

When the police asked her to file a complaint if she had anything against the mall personnel, she removed her footwear and threw it at one of the ASIs.

She then tried to escape from the police station and the WPSI, who tried to stop her, was bitten.

Vijay, manager of Nexus Mall, the complainant in the case, told TNIE that the woman kept abusing after she was requested to leave. "She used foul language. We did not want to create any problem and kept requesting her to leave as it was 2.30 am. But she was not ready to listen and started levelling false allegations on us. In order to protect the image of the mall and worrying that she might accuse us of something wrong, we had to call the police," Vijay added.

Even the manager along with another mall employee went to the station. "We asked her to file a complaint if she faced any problems inside the mall. But she started abusing the police and tried attacking the complainant. After throwing footwear at one of the staff, she tried to escape. The WPSI who tried to nab her has been bitten. The woman had to be arrested and an FIR has been registered against her. We suspect that she must be under the influence of some substance and only the medical report can confirm it," said the police.

The WPSI, when contacted, refused to comment.

The woman has been booked for causing hurt by dangerous weapons (IPC 324), assault or criminal force to deter public servant from discharge of his duty (IPC 353) along with other sections of the IPC.

City sees drop in dengue cases, 515 reported in 10 days

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

THE BBMP, which had witnessed 2,374 and 2,182 dengue cases in August and September, can relax for now as the cases are coming down. Between September 28 and October 7, 515 cases were reported. Chief Health Officer (CHO) Dr AS Balasundar said the information, education and communication campaign at every BBMP ward, larvae survey, spraying and fogging have helped reduce the cases.

"The department has been conducting awareness programmes since August when the cases were high and that helped contain the spread of dengue infections," he said.

"Since the larvae die in the cold season and the winter is just a few weeks away, the numbers are expected to go down further. We have also created awareness about the importance of keeping the surroundings clean, reducing the sources by spraying at vulnerable spots, clearing stagnant water and garbage and clearing water from flower pots, as these are breeding points for Aedes aegypti mosquito that breeds in clean water and infects humans," he added.

Dr Thrilok Chandra, Special Commissioner, BBMP Health Department, said that week-wise data revealed that dengue cases are reducing with around 300 cases being reported now.

Though the numbers have come down overall, areas in the East and South zones are still a concern as a few wards have reported over 10 cases each. But officials said it can be contained.

High incidence in Eas

Out of 515 cases, the East zone has 164 and wards like Hoysala Nagar, Domlur, CV Raman Nagar, Halasuru and New Thippasandra wards have around 10 cases. Similarly, the South zone has 117 cases and wards like Koramangala, Suddagunta Palya, Ejipura and Madiwala have around 10 cases.

Drunk school bus driver arrested for killing man

RISHITA KHANNA @ Bengaluru

IN a bid to drop students home on time, the management of New Baldwin International School in Ramamurthy Nagar compromised on the safety of 25 students and three pedestrians, resulting in the death of a 60-year-old man, as the driver of the school bus was under the influence of alcohol.

K Subhash, the driver, was reportedly on leave on October 10. But he was summoned by the school management as the regular driver was not present at school. While he was driving with 25 students on board, he fatally ran the bus over an elderly man. "The bus usually leaves around 3.30 pm. But because of exams, the school got over by 1 pm. The regular driver was not available at that time and the students were made to wait. Subhash was summoned as he resides in the vicinity of the school. He was asked to drop the students who reside in Banaswadi," a school official said.

She said the transport manager failed to notice that Subash was drunk as he arrived in a hurry. Subhash ran the bus over Anjinappa, 60, near Makkutamma temple while he was crossing the road at Dodda Banaswadi. He also hit Shakti, 40, and S Manjunath, 28. Both sustained minor injuries. Anjinappa succumbed to injuries in hospital the next day.

Banaswadi traffic police have seized the bus and arrested Subhash. The school management has suspended Subhash.

Pocso case: HC grants bail to SJM Vidyapeeta secy

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court granted bail to Paramashivaiah AJ, Secretary of SJM Vidyapeeta, who had been charged with abetment of Sri Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru, pontiff of Sri Murugha Math, to commit sexual assault on two minor girls, which amounts to an offence under POCSO Act.

Justice Shivashankar Amarannavar on Friday passed the order, allowing Paramashivaiah's appeal praying to set aside the order dated December 6, 2022, passed by the sessions court in Chitradurga rejecting his bail plea. The allegation against Paramashivaiah was that he pushed the victims into the seer's room. The HC, however, observed that the offence against Paramashivaiah is a matter of trial. Merely because he is an influential person is not a ground to keep him in custody during trial, wherein the prosecution has to examine 84 witnesses and further proceedings are stayed, it added.

"The offences alleged against pontiff are under Sections 5(1) and 6 of the POCSO Act. On medical examination of two victims, it was found that their hymen was intact. Section 5(1) punishable under Section 6 of the Act is for aggravated penetrative sexual assault. As the hymen of the minor victims are intact, at this stage, it cannot be said that there was an aggravated penetrative sexual assault on the victims. The said aspect can be ascertained at the trial," it observed.

The HC imposed conditions for the accused while also giving liberty to the trial court to impose other conditions.

STATE DECLARES ANOTHER 22 TALUKS DROUGHT-HIT

Will submit another memorandum to Centre for more relief funds

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE state government on Friday declared another 22 taluks as drought-hit. With this, the total number of drought-hit taluks in the state has reached 216, out of 236 taluks. Of them, 186 are severely affected.

The government announced the list of 22 drought-hit taluks based on crop surveys conducted over the last week and the ground-truthing report from local officials. The notification was issued on Friday.

Revenue Minister Krishna Byre Gowda said that another memorandum will be submitted to the Centre next Monday, seeking additional relief funds for the state. The state has an opportunity to seek an additional drought relief of Rs 300-350 crore as per Central government guidelines, the minister said. In the first phase, 195 taluks out of 236 taluks were declared drought-affected and there was a demand to declare the rest of the taluks also as drought-affected. On September 22, the state appealed to the Centre for relief funds and the Inter-Ministerial Central Team (IMCT) visited the state to assess the situation. After its three-day visit to the state, the officials of the IMCT were convinced about the drought situation, said a note issued by the minister's office.

The state government had sought meetings with the Union Home Minister and Agriculture Minister to explain the drought situation in the state and submit a plea. Chief Minister Siddaramaiah had also written to the Centre, requesting time for the meeting. Gowda said the state government will again seek time to meet the Union Home Minister and Agriculture Minister.

During the meeting with officials on Friday, Gowda expressed displeasure that the Centre does not have accurate data on the number of small farmers in the state, as a result of which the state is being treated unfairly in the drought relief fund. "There are 68-70% small farmers in the state. However, according to the previous census of the Centre, it was only 45 %. Therefore, the drought relief fund that is being released to state is also unfair," he stated.

CWMA directs Karnataka to give 3k cusecs; State to move SC

BENGALURU: The Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA) on Friday directed Karnataka to release 3,000 cusecs of Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu for 15 days from October 16. This directive comes two days after the Cauvery Water Regulatory Committee (CWRC) directed Karnataka to release 3,000 cusecs of Cauvery water to TN. The Karnataka government is now planning to file a writ petition before the Supreme Court. On Friday, Karnataka, in its submission, said that the total water available for Tamil Nadu is more than what is required for its kuruvai and samba crops. "With the available water resources, TN is comfortably placed. The India Meteorological Department has also predicted that the northeast monsoon will be normal which is an advantage for TN," Karnataka said. Additional Chief Secretary (Water Resources) Rakesh Singh told reporters in New Delhi that Karnataka has explained to CWMA that the state is not in a position to release water to TN. "Tamil Nadu asked us to release backlog water. We have clarified that if there is no rain in the rabi season, we cannot release the backlog," he said. Singh also said that TN demanded 16,000 cusecs of water. "We will go to court and file a petition," Singh added. Singh, however, said that Karnataka can release water only if inflow into its reservoirs in the Cauvery basin increases. Singh also said that Karnataka once again raised the need for the Mekedatu balancing reservoir project to which the CWMA said a separate meeting was needed to discuss the matter. ENS

MY TAKE

When women can be masters of their fate, captains of their souls

NIRAD MUDUR
Deputy Resident Editor, Karnataka
niradgmudur@newindianexpress.com

IT may not be too evident despite making headlines, but a quiet revolution is in the making to boost women entrepreneurs in the tier-2 and 3 cities in Karnataka. If followed through effectively, it could not just bring about a sea change in the business environment of the state, but tremendously boost employment generation that could see youths being absorbed. More importantly — and significantly — it holds the potential of gradually filling up and welding the deep communal divide that Karnataka has witnessed lately.

The seeds for that revolution have been sown, but it has to take roots for a united Karnataka to re-emerge. That could hold much promise of mitigating all existing divisions and replicate the model into a united India, if allowed to succeed and set an example for all to follow.

The incubation arm of the Indian Institute of Management (IIM) Bangalore, Nadathur S Raghavan Centre for Entrepreneurial Learning (NSRCEL), in collaboration with the Karnataka State Rural Livelihood Promotion Society (KSRLPS), and supported by the National Rural Livelihood Mission (NRLM) under the National Rural Economic Transformation Project (NRLTP), funded by the World Bank, on Thursday launched the 'Swavalambane' ('Self-reliance') programme to empower rural women entrepreneurs and transform the business landscape across Karnataka. It aims to scale up existing women-led micro-businesses across tier-2 and tier-3 landscapes to elevate their businesses by providing them access to a support ecosystem to engage with larger markets, become financially sustainable, generate local employment and help them transform into successful, scalable and sustainable businesses.

It catalyses growth for women entrepreneurs by facilitating access to resources, funds, skill development, mentorship, and networking opportunities. It is looking at partnering with the national and state livelihood missions to build a methodology that could be replicated across India to support the development of a robust entrepreneurial ecosystem for economic growth.

While the emphasis is on boosting the economy even as it stresses on women empowerment, its mega-potential in bringing people together cannot — and should not — be missed.

Similar programmes are commonly floated for women in larger cities, but it is tier-2 and 3 cities that hold the potential to readily sink roots deep and firm. It is these smaller towns, cities and their surroundings in the state that have been witnessing communal flare-ups recently, and programmes like 'Swavalambane' could work as a unifier with women taking the lead through entrepreneurship and social assimilation to overcome the issues.

Livelihood and successful enterprises know no boundaries or divisions, and can play a role in social binding of communities through women entrepreneurs while generating employment — because women can do it better. It can be turned into the 'Invictus' moment for women entrepreneurs, not just in Karnataka, but in entire India.

Although written in a completely different context, William Ernest Henley's 1875 poem "Invictus", can be applied here as it conveys to never lose hope no matter the circumstance, and to control your fate and decide your future:

Out of the night that covers me, black as the pit from pole to pole, I thank whatever gods may be for my unconquerable soul. In the fell clutch of circumstance I have not winced nor cried aloud. Under the bludgeonings of chance My head is bloody, but unbowed. Beyond this place of wrath and tears Looms but the Horror of the shade, And yet the menace of the years Finds and shall find me unafraid.
It matters not how strait the gate, How charged with punishments the scroll, I am the master of my fate, I am the captain of my soul.

Ultimately, whatever well-meaning programmes are floated, their final fruition lies in the attitudes of those who tackle them and take them to their conclusions.

It was Samuel Smiles (1812-1904), a British author and government reformer, who promoted the idea that more progress comes from new attitudes rather than from mere new laws or initiatives. He states: "The battle of life is, in most cases, fought uphill; and to win it without a struggle were perhaps to win it without honour. If there were no difficulties there would be no success; if there were nothing to struggle for, there would be nothing to be achieved. Yesterday I dared to struggle. Today I dare to win."

Karnataka to procure power from private generators

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE state government on Friday invoked Section 11 of the Electricity Act to procure power from private sources. With that, the state government can immediately procure 800-1,000 MW of power from private parties. As per KPTCL records, independent power producers are generating 18,237.9 MW of power as on March 31, 2023.

The decision to invoke Section 11 was taken at a meeting chaired by CM Siddaramaiah to take stock of the power crisis. The CM directed heads of all energy supply companies to monitor the situation and prioritise allocation. He directed officials to ensure five hours of staggered supply to farmers. He said the demand has shot up because of the monsoon deficit of 40-50%, high demand from irrigation pumpsets (IP) and strong post-Covid recovery in the economy.

Department sources said, "Already, rationing of power has started. After the Gruha Jyothi scheme, power consumption has increased, while power usage has gone up because of the increase in temperature."

As per KPCL data, power consumption in the state between October 1 and 12 has been 2,971.93 million units. The average consumption in October is 247.66 MU as compared to last year's 159.86 MU. "There has been a 40% increase in power generation, compared to last year, but not installed capacity. But this increase has not helped meet the demand. In 2013, the generation capacity was 14,000MW. It increased to 28,000MW in 2018 and jumped to 32,000MW in 2023," an official explained.

The CM said that last year, 9,000-10,000MW was consumed during this time. But this year, it has shot up to 15,000 to 16,000 MW. At the meeting, it was decided that since hydel generation is down by 3,000MU, it will be used only during peak hours. The CM was informed that additional 2 lakh MT of coal per month was obtained from MCL-RSR in September, while tenders for imported coal of 2.5 lakh MT have been called.

Siddaramaiah said a Karnataka Power Corporation gas plant of 370 MW capacity is being operationalised.

Contractors set new deadline for govt to clear dues, threaten statewide stir

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka State Contractors' Association, which has set a deadline of 30 days to the state government to clear at least 50% of the Rs 20,000 to Rs 25,000 crore dues of contractors, on Friday said that it will launch a statewide protest if its demands are not fulfilled by then.

This is the second deadline the association has set. It had set August 30 as the deadline for the government to clear the dues. "If the government fails to fulfil our demands, we have no other option but to launch an agitation. We wrote four letters to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to clear our dues, but the government did nothing," association president D Kempanna told reporters here.

He alleged that except the Public Works Department (PWD), no other department maintains a seniority list in clearing the bills of contractors.

Referring to the reported attempts to suicide by contractors in Belagavi and Hubballi, Kempanna claimed that he has been receiving calls from some agrieved contractors that they too will take the extreme step. "Ayudha Puja is a big festival for contractors and the government should take steps to clear their dues at the earliest," he said.

State Contractors Association president D Kempanna addresses the media in Bengaluru on Friday | SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

"We will once again write to the CM and also to the PM, though the latter did not respond to us when we wrote to him earlier," Kempanna said.

On clearing a mere 7% of the contractors' dues, Kempanna clarified that it will not help them as they have to pay 18% GST on that amount.

Kempanna had accused some ministers and officials in the previous BJP government of demanding 40% commission to clear the dues of contractors. The Congress party made this an issue during the May 10 Assembly elections and set up the HN Nagamohan Das Commission to probe this allegation after coming to power.

Asked if some ministers in the Congress government sought commission to clear the dues, Kempanna said no contractor has complained in this regard so far. Most of the projects have been allotted to contractors from other states, especially from Andhra Pradesh. When there is no work allotted to our contractors, there is no demand for commission," he alleged.

On the Income Tax Department's raid on contractor Ambikapathy in Bengaluru where Rs 42 crore was seized on Friday, Kempanna clarified that he stopped working as a contractor eight years ago. "Ambikapathy is now into many ventures such as farming and quarrying. Let the law take its own course," he said.

In a press release, the association demanded that the government take steps to release at least 50% of the outstanding dues within a month. "It should not delay it on the pretext of the Das Commission's investigation. Protests will be staged at all district headquarters of the State, including Bengaluru," the association said.

Haul of gold jewellery unearthed

THE taxmen, who have been conducting search and seizure operations for the past few days in the city for alleged tax evasion, continued their operations and raided more than five locations linked to contractor Ambikapathy, his family members and others who have business ties with him.

Sources said raids were conducted at RT Nagar, Sultanpalya, Kaval Byrasandra, Manyata Tech Park and other places in the city on Thursday evening. The raids continued till Friday night. "At the residence of Ambikapathy at Atmananda Colony in Sultanpalya, wads of currencies in Rs 500 denomination were kept discreetly in carton boxes, which were hidden under a cot. The room was locked and the family members did not use it," the sources said.

A huge quantity of gold jewelry was also found in the house during the raid, the sources said.

It is said that the cash seized was meant to be transported to Telangana and other poll-bound states and that it was supposed to be paid as kickbacks to politicians and bureaucrats to get the pending bills of contractors cleared. Officials, however, said that this will be known only after a detailed investigation.

With the huge amount of cash found in the house, the IT Department is likely to inform the Directorate of Enforcement (ED), which may take up a case of money laundering against Ambikapathy.

Ambikapathy was one among the five contractors, including Karnataka Contractors' Association president Kempanna, arrested in December last, by the Vyalikaval police, for not appearing before the court in a defamation case filed by former minister Munirathna of the BJP for making the '40% commission' charge.

BJP, JDS ALLEGE ₹42 CRORE MEANT TO FUND CONG IN T'GANA POLLS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AN IT raid on a contractor in Bengaluru where Rs 42 crore was unearthed from his flat on Friday resulted in a political slugfest between the three major political parties in the state. Opposition BJP and JDS slammed the ruling Congress government alleging that the money was meant to fund its party candidates in the Telangana Assembly election.

JDS senior leader HD Kumaraswamy and BJP general secretary and MLC N Ravikumar, speaking along the same lines, alleged that Congress collected the money from BBMP contractors to fund the elections in five states. Ravikumar sought a probe, saying the money has been seized after the government released dues of Rs 650 crore to contractors which Deputy Chief Minister and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar was reluctant to do, but ceded after several rounds of talks with contractors. He said both Chief Minister Siddramaiah and Shivakumar should resign on moral grounds.

Shivakumar said, "There is no IT raid in the country without a political motive. Raids are happening not only in Karnataka, but also other states." On the allegation that Rs 42 crore was the commission from Rs 650 crore released to contractors and is being sent to Telangana through the main accused, Ambikapathy, he said, "I don't know about it."

Kumaraswamy alleged that it was Shivakumar who has organised to get the money collected and stashed ahead of the Assembly elections in five states. He taunted Siddaramaiah, asking which investigative agency will now be asked to probe it. He alleged that soon after the elections were declared to five states, the collection of money began. "Whose money was seized in the contractor's (R Ambikapathy) house," he asked.

He said, "After Rs 650 crore was released to contractors, this Rs 42 crore caught the eyes of IT authorities. This means the allegations of commission being collected by this government are true. What is the percentage and who is the man behind it?" He alleged that Congress has continued to use Karnataka as an ATM to fund polls. "Farmers are troubled by drought and power crisis, while contractors are in dire straits. But the collection of commission is rampant," he said.

Dasara committee tells tribals not to set up food stall, threatens to demolish it

Tribals near their food stall in Mysuru

BK LAKSHMIKANTHA @ Mysuru

TRIBALS, who had won the hearts of people by serving delicious bamboo briyani all these years at the Dasara Food Festival, have been denied permission by the Food Committee this time.

Adivasis from 12 hadis reached the Scouts and Guides Ground here to earn some money as they have been deprived of work at estates because of poor monsoon. But they were in for a rude shock when the authorities threatened to bulldoze their stall and to file a police complaint against them.

The tribal group, Prakruti Adivasi Foundation Trust, headed by Krishnaiah, had gathered near the shed to inaugurate the 'Aadivasi Aahara Mane' when Mysuru Urban Development Authority Commissioner GT Dinesh Kumar, who is Dasara Special Officer for Food Festival, visited the ground. He told the tribals to remove the shed, set up in a traditional style, as they have not taken permission. For the last eight years, the district administration had voluntarily allotted a small space for the tribals.

The tribals tried to convince Dinesh Kumar that they did not know that they had to take permission and they be allowed to participate as they had invested over Rs 2 lakh. But he refused and warned them that a police complaint would be filed against them, He also sent a few policemen from the Lakshmipuram police station later to warn them.

Krishnaiah told TNIE, "We are around 40 adivasis from Hunsur, HD Kote, Periyapatna and Kodagu, belonging to Jenu Kuruba, Betta Kuraba, Soliga, Yarava and Dungri Grasia. We used to set up the shed all these years with just the oral permission. But now they want the permission letter and have threatened to raze our shed. To get the permission we have to pay Rs 1 lakh which we cannot afford. We invested a lot of money to set up the shed. When we were erecting it for the last week, we were not stopped by officials."

KSRTC on Friday announced the operation of 2,000 additional buses between October 24 and 29, to various intra and inter-state locations in view of the upcoming Dasara holidays. Another 600 buses will be deployed to ferry people for the iconic Mysuru Dasara

SUPREME COURT POSTS NAIDU'S PRE-ARREST BAIL PLEA TO OCT 17

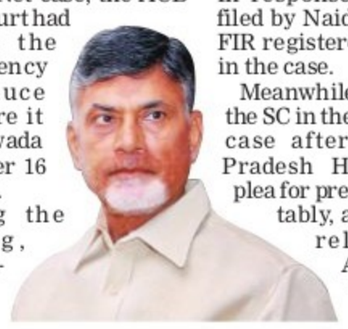
Will not press for his arrest till Oct 18 in FiberNet case: Cops to SC

JAISON WILSON @ New Delhi

THE Andhra Pradesh police on Friday informed the Supreme Court that they would not press for arresting TDP supremo N Chandrababu Naidu in the FiberNet case till October 18 (Wednesday), while the apex court scheduled the former chief minister's anticipatory bail plea for October 17 (Tuesday).

Appearing for Naidu, senior advocate Siddharth Luthra submitted before a bench of Justices Aniruddha Bose and Bela M Trivedi that his client's anticipatory bail would become 'infructuous', if he was arrested again on October 16.

While allowing the State CID to issue a Prisoner Transit (PT) warrant to Naidu in the FiberNet case, the ACB special court had directed the probe agency to produce him before it in Vijayawada on October 16 (Monday).



During the hearing, senior advocate Mukul Rohatgi, appearing on behalf of the State, said he would simply ask the trial court to adjourn the hearing to October 18.

The apex court said it is not passing any order regarding the protection of Naidu. "..but, Mr. Rohatgi, do not arrest him on Monday before our hearing... he is anyway in custody," the bench remarked and Rohatgi agreed.

The State was issued a notice and given time till Monday to file its counter-affidavit in the AP FiberNet case.

The 73-year-old is already under remand in connection with the Andhra Pradesh State Skill Development Corporation (APSSDC) case. The Bench is currently hearing Rohatgi's submissions in response to a petition filed by Naidu to quash the FIR registered against him in the case.

Meanwhile, Naidu moved the SC in the FiberNet scam case after the Andhra Pradesh HC rejected his plea for pre-arrest bail. Notably, another matter related to the APSSDC case is also pending before SC.

Alleging that Naidu's health condition was deteriorating due to poor facilities in the jail, Lokesh said there is an undeniable and immediate threat to Naidu's life.

In an informal chat with reporters here on Friday, Rama Rao referred to the ₹42 crore in cash seized by I-T sleuths from the residence of a corporator in Karnataka. "Already ₹8 crore has reached Kodangal and the remaining ₹42 crore was seized by I-T sleuths," Rama Rao alleged. HC nod to appoint 13K primary school teachers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IN THE HC

THE High Court of Karnataka has given its approval to the State Government to appoint 13,352 teachers for government and aided primary schools. Considering the imminent requirement of primary school teachers across the state and in the interests of students of classes 6 to 8, the court is of the view that the government be permitted to proceed with the appoints as per the list prepared on March 8, a division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice MGS Kamal said.

The court passed the order while allowing partly the appeals filed by many candidates questioning the order issued on January 30 by the single judge to quash the provisional selection list published on November 18, 2022.

The single judge passed the order on the petitions filed by some candidates who had been excluded from the provisional list. The selection list was published later by taking into consideration the income certificates of husbands and parents as well as merit-cum-roster.

Declining to accept the contention of the government that only the caste and income of the spouses be taken into consideration for appointment of teachers, the single judge held that the action of the selecting authority (Deputy Director of Public Instruction), who has taken caste and income of the husbands for the appoints, is contrary to law.

The single judge had directed the authority to consider the applications of the petitioners based on caste and income certificates of their parents and not their spouses, and as belonging to the respective categories against which they have applied.

The division bench, however, said the appointment of candidates, who have not submitted caste-cum-income certificates in the prescribed form and not in terms of the government order of December 12,1986, and who are included in the selection list in view of the order passed by the single judge, be deferred until the outcome of the challenge.

As regards the remaining 451 posts, since the candidates contended that their names have been excluded purely on merit basis, the division bench clarified that the eligibility of such candidates who have not furnished caste-cum-income certificates in the prescribed form, is held to be invalid. Such posts may be filled from among the candidates who have been excluded on the merit basis and those who have submitted certificates in the prescribed form. The division bench made it clear that the provision of enabling the government to proceed with the process of appointment is made under a peculiar situation wherein the present litigation has brought the process to a grinding halt on account of rejection of applications of some candidates by the DDPI for want of caste-cum-income certificates in the prescribed form.

98% menopausal women hesitate to consult docs: Study

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

DOCTORS have raised concerns over 98 percent women in Karnataka in their menopausal age consult them only for issues related to heavy bleeding and vaginal discharge, while avoiding other symptoms, a recently released report showed.

Gynaecologist and obstetrician, Dr Ameya Kulkarni-Kanakiya, Co-Founder of Elda Health, a Bengaluru-based company released the report titled 'State of menopausal health in India' on Friday. Of the total 25,000 women across India enrolled under their programmes, 5,000 were from Karnataka.

With the report stating that over 98 percent of them hesitate to consult doctors over issues like hot flashes, period health issues, sleep problems, urinary issues, and mental health challenges, Dr Ameya said, it is crucial for women to understand that regular exercise, quality sleep, and a balanced diet can make their menopausal transition smoother and reduce the severity of symptoms. Neglecting them can worsen a person's condition.

The stigma around menopause continues to be a barrier to open conversations, many women fear that their families or workplace will not understand their state of being, the report said. Women are advised to engage in regular exercise and consume nutritious diet as it creates a significant impact on the severity of menopausal symptoms.

The report also highlighted that while 24 percent of the women suffer from sexual health concerns, only six percent seek help for them. They also suffer from fatigue, sadness, hair fall, weight gain, anger, anxiety, various types of body pains, insomnia, memory loss, and skin issues.

Swathi Kulkarni, Co-Founder and CEO of Elda Health, said that Bengaluru women, both employed and homemakers, should be focusing on taking care of their health. She added that despite lifestyle issues like obesity they were indulging exercises in everyday life.

Palestinian ambassador seeks India's support to end violence in West Asia

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Malappuram

ONLY a fascist could label the people of Palestine as 'human animals,' said Adnan Abu Alhaija, the Ambassador of Palestine to India, in response to Israeli Defence Minister Yoav Gallant's remark. Abu Alhaija made this statement while addressing a programme organised by Jamaat-e-Islami Hind in Malappuram, expressing solidarity with Palestine on Friday. He highlighted the severe challenges being faced by the Palestinian population.

"Many in Palestine are residing in relief camps, yet they persist unwaveringly in their struggle. Their singular goal is the liberation of Palestine, with the aspiration for Holy Khuds to serve as their capital. Despite enduring tragic losses in ongoing massacres, the people of Palestine continue to fight for their homeland," he said.

Rooster knife attack case: Jagan files plea in High Court

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Vijayawada

ANDHRA PRADESH Chief Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy on Friday filed a petition in the High Court challenging the orders of the NIA court, Vijayawada, which had earlier struck down his petition seeking a thorough investigation into the rooster knife attack on him.

Jagan, when he was the Leader of Opposition, was attacked by J Srinivasa Rao alias Chanti with a rooster knife at Visakhapatnam airport on October 25, 2018.

The NIA, which investigated the case, filed a chargesheet stated that Srinivasa Rao attacked Jagan with an intention to kill him. The NIA, however, did not probed into the conspiracy angle.

Jagan filed a petition in the Special Court for NIA cases in Vijayawada in April this year seeking deeper investigation as the investigating agency had not gone deep into the case.

The court dismissed the petition on July 25. The same was challenged by Jagan in the High Court.

When the petition came up for hearing, the registry raised objection as to whether a quash petition could be filed in an order given by the NIA court in an interlocutory application. Justice K Sreenivasa Reddy dismissed the objections raised by the registry and posted the petition for hearing on October 17.

Troublemakers won't be spared: D'gere SP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

DAVANAGERE Superintendent of Police Uma Prashanth on Friday said that action will be initiated against those who tried to create trouble during the Ganesh immersion procession at Basavarajpet in the city on Thursday.

"Police have heard both sides and as per the law action will be initiated. We will not tolerate anyone who will take law into their own hands. Miscreants will not be spared and we are not going to allow disturbances in the city and all sorts of precautions have been initiated," she said.

It can be recalled that during the Ganesh immersion procession in the city on Thursday night, a few people stopped the procession and told organisers not to use DJs in their area, which thereby led to tensions between the two communities.

However, the police swung into action and eased the tension after which the procession was carried out.

INDIAN EXPRESS IS NOT AN INDUSTRY. IT IS A MISSION.

— Ramnath Goenka

IT JOB CUTS AND HIRING HOLD-UP NEED SOLUTIONS

INDIA's top IT companies have hit the brake on fresh hiring. Industry bell-weather Infosys has decided to stay away from campus recruitments this financial year and leader TCS is recalibrating additions to its total headcount. Others such as Wipro and HCL Technologies, too, do not seem enthusiastic. According to staffing firm TeamLease Digital, the industry collectively hired about eight lakh freshers over the last two financial years. But worryingly, some of the companies are yet to bring on board all of those fresh hires and are taking a measured view on handing out offer letters this year. Considering the spurt in intake in the recent past, TeamLease predicts a 30 percent decline in IT hiring this year, which would add to the overall unemployment rate.

The sector usually absorbs 20-25 percent of the 1.5 million or so engineering graduates who join the workforce every year. An estimated 70-80 percent of the fresh manpower demand is met through campus recruitment. But companies are going slow on hiring because the demand from key markets like the US is softening. Engineering colleges acknowledge that it is a tough placement season, which is usually spread between July and September; they now expect hiring for this year's batch to extend to next year, hoping that the economic uncertainty will have reduced by then. The hiring slowdown has a number of underlying reasons that include a global demand decline, transition to technologies such as new-age automation, the need to optimise the use of current workforces, and the need to increase utilisation rates. It is not just the freeze in hiring that is troubling, but the fact that companies are even holding off on increments and are reducing headcounts.

Everyone had expected companies to go back to their hiring spree when industry attrition rates fell in the first quarter of 2023-24. But the second quarter brought the bad news of job cuts at mass recruiters such as TCS, Infosys and HCL Technologies. In the backdrop of a challenging demand environment and global macroeconomic doubts, the hiring slowdown is an undeniably worrying pointer. It comes at a time when India's unemployment rate seems to be on the mend. Official data confirmed this week that urban unemployment declined to 6.6 percent in the first quarter—the lowest rate since the launch of periodic labour-force surveys in 2018. A prolonged slowdown in hiring and reduction in the overall IT workforce will add to the country's joblessness and is not a good beginning for the election season.

SOLVE WATER WOES TO SAVE TN GROWTH TARGET

TAMIL Nadu, Andhra Pradesh and Odisha are eagerly awaiting the northeast monsoon. The weatherman says rains may be delayed by a week, but they hope it will be a normal monsoon. Some states are already reeling under a severe water deficit. The delta districts of Tamil Nadu, for instance, are in the throes of a near-drought situation. Farmers in Mayiladuthurai are a worried lot, with thousands of acres of paddy withering, while their counterparts in Thanjavur complain of a significant drop in the average yield. They all blame it on insufficient Cauvery water.

TN and Karnataka have tangled themselves up in a new legal battle over the sharing of Cauvery water. Karnataka, which is also facing a poor southwest monsoon season, has refused to pay heed to TN's request for its share of the water. Karnataka has blamed the scanty rainfall in the Cauvery catchment area for the lack of adequate flow into its reservoirs. After the Cauvery Water Management Authority and the Supreme Court intervened, Karnataka is releasing 3,000 cubic feet per second of water, while TN is demanding at least thrice that volume.

Being one of the most water-deficient states, TN already has a low per-capita availability of 900 cubic metres of water annually compared to the national average of 1,486 cubic metres. TN's total water demand—for domestic use, irrigation, livestock and industrial needs—stands at 1,868 thousand million cubic feet (tmcft) a year, while the total availability from all resources is only 1,682 tmcft. Equally worrying is that TN is facing unprecedented groundwater pollution from industrial effluents. Industrial regions such as Chennai-Manali, Vellore, Vaniyambadi, Thoothukudi and Tiruppur are encountering the threat of acute water pollution, says a recent draft report of the state planning commission. The report has opened eyes by clearly pointing to the need for course correction in the agriculture sector, which accounts for 13 percent of the state economy. TN, which is trying to become a trillion-dollar economy by 2030, will have to find ways to augment its storage capacity, encourage sustainable cultivation practices, substitute crops, and increase the use of micro-irrigation. It is imperative that the southern states continue to focus on agriculture to keep food inflation in check.

QUICK TAKE

SMOG SOLUTION LIES IN IRRIGATION

THE Haryana government has cleared a scheme to use paddy straw for energy, which it hopes would stop stubble burning by 2027. The state had launched another plan in 2021 to pay farmers to leave their paddy fields uncultivated or switch from the crop. The moves are meant to avoid adding to the smog that chokes the national capital every winter. But both the moves are foolhardy; stubble burning continues in Haryana, Punjab and Uttar Pradesh despite the warning of penalties. The problem arose when the paddy season had to be delayed to plan around climate change and water scarcity. The answer lies in using water prudently and increasing irrigation in these areas.

Citizens are hurt when the judiciary fails to protect the law and ensure fair play. The rot is old and the repair needed is substantial. But there are practicable solutions at hand

DEMOCRACY DIES WHEN JUSTICE SUFFERS

K M CHANDRASEKHAR

Former Cabinet Secretary and author of As Good as My Word: A Memoir

SOUMYADIP SINHA

YEARS ago, when I had just joined the civil services, I was posted in Kozhikode in the north of Kerala for revenue and judicial training at the district level. One important revenue function is land acquisition. The divisional revenue officer sent me to count the number of coconut trees on a piece of land proposed to be acquired and to estimate their yield by looking up at the flowers, the fruits and the inflorescence. It was a big farm and there were many trees. I counted once. He asked me to count again. This time, I got a different number. I suggested that we take the average of the two counts. The revenue officer was horrified. He said the owner of the land would go to court, demanding many times the value estimated by the department. A mistake could be very costly to the government.

That was my first encounter, at the age of 23, with the possibility of corruption in courts. The revenue inspector who had accompanied me told me that the usual practice for judges was to give many times the value of the land. The excess over the estimated amount would be split three ways between the plaintiff, the lawyer and the judge. A far cry from the notions of independence and fairness of the judiciary taught to us within the hallowed precincts of the National Academy of Administration at Mussoorie.

Later in my career, I came across several cases of blatantly partial or patently incorrect judgements given at various levels of the judiciary. There have been cases of judges favouring one or the other for money or for ingratiating political powers even at the apex level. When asked about corruption in the judiciary, former Supreme Court Chief Justice Ranjan Gogoi replied, "Corruption is as old as society. Corruption has become a way of life—an acceptable way of life. Judges don't drop from heaven."

In 2009, lawyer Prashant Bhushan told the Tehelka magazine that, in his view, half of the previous sixteen or seventeen chief justices of the Supreme Court had been corrupt.

When I was in Delhi, stories of suitcases being surreptitiously passed on to a high authority of the Supreme Court at St James Park in London during his morning walks were widely mentioned by top lawyers.

Arun Jaitley, then the Leader of Opposition in the Rajya Sabha, pleaded with the government not to give post-retirement assignments to top judicial functionaries. Give them a full salary, give them other benefits, give them a house in Lutyens' Delhi, but do not give them a job.

The scale of corruption multiplies down the ladder. With adjournment after adjournment given, the number of cases in Indian courts has piled up to almost 50 million, according to an estimate by the Union law minister in parliament last year. I have come across cases of subordinate judges refusing to let go of cases even after investigating authorities found no evidence and the aggrieved party himself had settled the matter to his satisfaction with the accused or the respondent.

In a democracy, the judiciary is the last bastion for the protection of the law and for ensuring transparency and fair play in society. If this bastion, too, is breached, the common citizen loses his freedom and lives in fear. The independence of the judiciary is of paramount importance. The answer does not lie in whittling down its independence or in obtruding executive authority into the judicial field through means such as interference in the appointment process. We want a free and fair judiciary, not an executive government that is all-powerful and strikes at the roots of democracy. Hence the approach taken by the Supreme Court on the National Judicial Appointments Commission proposed by the government was the right one.

Corruption in the judiciary is not new. As early as 1949, Justice S P Gupta of the Allahabad High Court was removed solely on the basis of his judgement. In 2011, Justice Krishna Iyer, one of the most reputed judges in the history of the Indian judiciary, wrote in an open letter to Rahul Gandhi, "The judicature, a sacred instrument with great powers to punish corruption, is itself corrupt. Not a single corrupt judge has been caught or punished."

This is not confined to our country. In 2016, the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime launched a global programme to promote a culture of lawfulness. It included the creation of a Global Judicial Integrity Network to share best practices and lessons learned on the fundamental challenges and new questions relating to judicial integrity and the prevention of corruption.

The Supreme Court had acquired a reputation for being upright and fair in the 1960s under the leadership of Chief Justice P B Gajendragadkar. But now we need to initiate a comprehensive process of reform.

It's possible to devise viable solutions to deal with the substantial task at hand. First, the number of pending cases has to be brought down sharply. Not through a vast and financially impracticable increase in the number of judges, but by such means as plea bargaining, arbitration and mediation, and a much wider use of digital and audio-visual systems. Second, as in all other systems of governance, a reward and penalty system could be brought into the judicial world and judges judged on the basis of case disposal and performance assessment. Third, the Supreme Court could establish a vigilance system under its direct control to investigate complaints. Fourth, the penal codes could incorporate provisions for stricter punishment of judges and lawyers found guilty of corruption. Fifth, the jury system, which fell into disrepute after the Nanavati case, could be revived. Sixth, contempt of court provisions need to be placed within straitjackets to ensure that they are not weaponised by corrupt judges. Seventh, the judiciary must find ways of dealing with media sensationalism and its impact on judicial response.

There are many other changes that the legal system could itself devise to provide the people with a judicial system that safeguards the law, democracy and the Constitution. To use the words of the Dutch judge Marc Bax, now is the time for the legal system to "reflect on how a judge's integrity is evidenced and how it can be seen to be believed by the public".

PARENTS AND EDUCATORS MUST REDUCE STUDENT STRESS

JOHN J KENNEDY

Professor and Dean, Christ University (Deemed), Bengaluru

ON July 17, a young engineering student tragically took his life by jumping from a university building in Bengaluru. He had allegedly resorted to copying during an exam using his mobile phone. University officials claimed that when confronted for this act, the first-year student was overwhelmed by the fear of severe consequences, resulting in him taking the extreme step. The question that lingers is, what could be more 'severe' than losing one's life?

The distressing phenomenon of student suicides has been on the rise not only in Bengaluru but throughout the country. According to data from the National Crime Records Bureau, in 1997, there were nearly 5,000 reported cases of student suicides. Fast forward to 2020, and we had to face some tragic data which revealed that a young life was lost every 42 minutes. A rough calculation reveals that 34 lives were lost in a single day, and the total number of student suicides in that year alone totalled a staggering 13,000. These figures are undeniably alarming.

Despite the alarming frequency of these tragic incidents, neither the seriousness of the problem nor the gravity of the issue at hand seems to have been adequately recognised or addressed. In India, we have often tended to view suicide as an isolated and individualised event. The failure to hold institutions and systems accountable and to acknowledge their shortcomings has only exacerbated the problem. Our inability to recognise that suicides represent a complex intersection of public and mental health issues has prevented us from implementing effective solutions. Our refusal to analyse the situation comprehensively has further complicated the issue, impeding the development of lasting solutions.

Addressing this grave issue requires the collective effort of various sectors of society, including families, educational institutions and government bodies. Parents play a pivotal role in educating children about the value of life and fostering awareness about mental health. The family unit is the primary social structure that helps shape children's dreams and aspirations. In urban settings, where both parents often work, quality time with children is a rarity, leading to limited communication and strained relationships. Nevertheless, the parental expectation that children must excel in all areas, particularly academics, remains unaltered. The proliferation of offline and online coaching centres despite requiring substantial financial commitments is indicative of this pressure. Unfortunately, the understanding that not all children can excel in everything is often overlooked.

EXPRESS

Student suicides are on the rise because of anxiety and depression. A harsh exam system and parental push to excel are to blame. Introducing innovative assessment methods and reducing intense competition would go some way in relieving the pressure

Students are not machines; their unique talents and dreams are sometimes overshadowed by parents imposing their own aspirations and disguising their selfishness with the promise of a secure future. When these high expectations go unmet, tension, stress, anxiety and depression take hold of children, ultimately contributing to them having suicidal tendencies.

Mental health issues among students have become widespread especially after the Covid pandemic. Parents often assume that their children are doing fine and that schools and colleges will address any issues that arise.

While many educational institutions do have counsellors to help with personal problems, relying solely on them is unfair. Educational institutions often have limited resources to tackle mental health issues. Therefore, it is crucial for parents to actively engage with their children, maintaining open communication and attentive listening to identify behavioural problems early on.

Our education system, coupled with successive governments' reluctance to revamp it by emphasising on activity-based and experiential learning, has diminished the joy of learning. Even at the tertiary level, the focus remains on rote learning, with three-hour exams still held in high regard. Attempts to reduce exam durations or introduce innovative assessment methods are often met with resistance from traditional educators. The prevailing view of education as merely a means to secure employment and livelihood rather than a pursuit of knowledge has gained prominence. Consequently, parents and teachers exert undue pressure on students to achieve top scores, equating success solely with high marks. Paradoxically, many parents are less concerned about how well their children perform and more focused on why they did not outperform their peers.

Parents bear a significant responsibility in supporting their children and ensuring their well-being, apart from fostering an environment of freedom to make career choices and encouraging them to chart their paths in life. But educational institutions must also undergo a fundamental transformation. Sensitising teachers to students' problems and teaching them to view students as co-learners is a crucial step. Students may occasionally falter but should not be labelled as delinquents or criminals.

Additionally, talks, training sessions and courses aimed at helping students build adaptive resilience are imperatives. The rhetoric about preparing students to face the world's myriad problems will be in vain if students do not possess the skills to confront life's ever-evolving challenges. As a civilised society, we must affirm that education does not manufacture robots but nurtures individuals who can feel, empathise, conceive, and contribute to building a humane world.

Disqualification row: SC raps Maha Speaker

Narwekar pulled up for delay in adjudicating pleas to disqualify 15 MLAs and ignoring court's order on setting a timeframe

JAISON WILSON @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday expressed its dissatisfaction over the delay by Assembly Speaker Rahul Narwekar in deciding the disqualification proceedings against rebel MLAs of the erstwhile Shiv Sena party — Chief Minister Eknath Shinde and 15 others — saying that the proceedings should come to an end before the next elections.

The top court was considering a plea filed by Shiv Sena (Uddhav Thackeray) faction seeking directions to the Speaker to quickly decide on the disqualification pleas pending against the MLAs.

A bench headed by Chief Justice DY Chandrachud came heavily down on the "act" by the Speaker on the anti-defection proceedings, remarking, "Somebody has to advise the Speaker that he cannot defeat orders of the Supreme Court."

The bench, also comprising Justices JB Pardiwala and Manoj Misra, said the Speaker has not complied with the top court's order last month to prepare a time schedule to complete the disqualification proceedings against the rebel MLAs. Narwekar was given one week to spell out a timeline to be submitted before it.

"What kind of time schedule is he prescribing? The idea of the schedule cannot be to delay the hearing. Else their apprehension is correct," CJI said.

The bench also asked Solicitor General Tushar Mehta and Maharashtra Advocate General Dr Birendra Saraf to advise the Speaker in this regard. The court warned that it will set a timeline, if no proper timeline is prescribed for concluding the proceedings by Monday.

Earlier, on September 18, the top court had rapped the speaker. "While this court is cognizant to the need for comity with the Speaker, we also expect the dignity of this court's judgment to be maintained," the CJI-bench had said, asking the Speaker to apprise the court of the timeline.

"He (Speaker) has to decide the matter. He can't do this. What does the speaker do after the May 11 judgment by our court? It appears that nothing has happened. Speaker can't say now that I will have to hear it in due course. He's a tribunal under the 10th schedule. Tribunals are amenable to the jurisdiction of the court. What is the speaker proposing to do? He has to sit down and decide the questions now. We didn't set down a three-month retirement. Now, we have way past four months and we are in the stage of issuing notices," earlier the top court had remarked.

Einstein's equation, Darwin's theory wrong, mustn't be taught in school, says PIL; junked

The Supreme Court on Friday junked a plea challenging Charles Darwin's Theory of Evolution and Einstein's mass-energy equivalence ($E=MC^2$) equation. The public interest litigation stated that these theories were "incorrect and had caused harm to thousands of people", and thus should not be taught in educational institutions. "Then you improve your theory... what is the Supreme Court supposed to do? You say you studied something in school, you were a science student. Now you say that those theories are wrong. If you believe they were wrong, the SC has nothing to do. What is the violation of your fundamental right under Article 32?," the bench said, adding, "We cannot compel anyone to unlearn."

AIIMS told to file report on termination of pregnancy

JAISON WILSON @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday requested a new report from the All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) regarding the foetal health and medical condition of a married woman who is seeking to terminate her 26-week pregnancy. This case has presented the top court with a complex decision, as it revolves around the conflicting considerations of "the rights of the unborn child" and the "choice of the mother."

The next hearing for this case is scheduled for October 16, one week after the initial permission for the abortion was granted. Following this decision, the bench, consisting of Justice Hima Kohli and Justice BV Nagarathna, delivered a 'split opinion' due to differences in their views, particularly concerning the Centre's plea to recall the abortion of the "unborn."

The case then came before Chief Justice DY Chandrachud, along with Justices JB Pardiwala and Manoj Misra. In the hearing, the bench also inquired about the pregnant woman's preferences regarding her third-trimester pregnancy. They asked her counsel whether she wished for the apex court to issue a judicial order to stop the "foetal heart" of a "living, viable foetus."

Emphasising the mother's autonomy, the Chief Justice noted the absence of representation for the child and remarked, "We cannot terminate the child." Additionally, the top court discussed the doctors' opinion, which suggested a strong possibility of the child being born with serious physical or mental deformities if the premature pregnancy continued.

Cong govts behind strong India-Israel ties, says Tewari

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

DISMISSING BJP's jibes over Congress's stand on the West Asia conflict, senior Congress leader Manish Tewari asserted that it was previous Congress governments that initiated and formalised full diplomatic relations with Israel since 1988.

Speaking to this newspaper, the Lok Sabha MP said the initial contact with Israel was established during former Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi's tenure in 1988-89. "And the process was formalised on the 26th of January 1992," he added.

Israel came into existence in 1948. India did not establish diplomatic relations with the country until 1992 though it had recognized Israel in 1950.

Amid the Israel-Hamas conflict, the BJP has been attacking Congress over the party's Working Committee resolution extending support for the 'rights of the Palestinian people' without mentioning Hamas's attack on Israel. The raging war has killed scores of civilians and displaced thousands on both sides.

Referring to the ruling BJP's jibes, Tewari said that the Congress can take the credit on the full diplomatic relations with Israel, while sticking to the commitment of a two state solution.

"I saw the critical comments of a minister of this government. It is either complete ignorance or then worse, blindsided arrogance. Though the process was started by Rajiv Gandhi in 1988, full diplomatic relations with Israel was established in January 1992, while remaining steadfast on our commitment to the two state solution. We are the people who actually not only opened up the channel with Israel, but also formalised and restored full diplomatic relations," he said.

Former PM Atal Bihari Vajpayee adhered to India's principled position of supporting the Palestinian cause, he said.

Army studying Hamas' push into Israel by hoodwinking radars along fences

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

THE deceptive breach executed by the Palestine-based Islamist group Hamas has shaken not just Israel, but has also forced the Indian Army to study their tactic.

Sources said the entire campaign launched by Hamas is being analysed for the lessons to fine-tune the Army's Standard Operating Procedures.

The security establishment of Israel was caught off guard with the breach. The subsequent attacks were planned on Jewish Sabbath, a religious holiday.

The Hamas encroached into the Israeli territory with quick mobilization, including motorised hang gliders to land closer to the important points and then securing control of communication and surveillance. They cut the communication among the Israeli ground forces. The Hamas guerrillas then moved in its men on bikes supported by bulldozers in penetrating the gaps in the security walls.

Defence analyst Lt Gen VK Chaturvedi (Retd) said the use of hand gliders for missions is part of our training. "This particular case needs to be studied from the point of causing confusion after surveillance devices were overwhelmed by the armed Hamas. The attack also shows how seven basic technology can be improvised and used innovatively."

He said the ponderables include: In what way such state-of-the-art sensors, radars and equipment were hoodwinked.

"India has its strength in the form of boots on the ground which Israel may be lacking. Man behind the equipment is equally important," Lt Gen Chaturvedi told this paper.

As an operation, the Hamas definitely surprised the Israeli troops who seemed relaxed due to festivities. Also, the enemies' mobilization was quick in gaining control effectively, creating confusion and adopting an innovative approach, he said.

"We may draw multiple lessons, but one thing is clear that Hamas will be punished for their brutality," said Lt Gen Chaturvedi.

Tactical edge

Lt Gen Chaturvedi (Retd) says the ponderables include: In what way the ultra modern sensors, radars and equipment could be hoodwinked on a festival day.

Western disturbances may bring in early winter

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

NORTH India is likely to see early onset of winter this year owing to a spate of western disturbances. The Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) has forecast that a fresh series of western disturbances is likely to affect western Himalayas and plains of northwest India from weekend.

Early arrival of western disturbances brought down temperature in Delhi. "On October 12, the minimum temperature in Delhi was 16.4 degree celsius, the lowest in the first half of October since October 12, 1962," said Mahesh Palawat of Skymet, a private weather solution services provider.

Experts said early arrival of western disturbance activities in October is a major reason behind early onset of winter. Normally, western disturbance activities start in the last week of October.

"This time western disturbances arrived on October 9 and another scheduled phase of arrival is on October 15-16 and October 20-21 which will bring down the temperature," said Palawat.

Western disturbances will cause snowfall on higher altitude and north-westerly wind will bring down temperature, he said. Last year, there were negligible western disturbance activities. Western disturbance activities got activated in January 2023 which brought rains.

Western disturbances will bring light to moderate rain and snowfall is expected over Jammu and Kashmir, Ladakh and parts of Himachal Pradesh. Moreover, rainfall activities may increase over north Rajasthan, Haryana, Delhi, parts of west Uttar Pradesh.

According to the IMD, a wet spell over Northwest India during October 14-17 is expected. Isolated heavy rainfall likely over Tamil Nadu and Kerala during the next 4-5 days due to development of cyclonic circulation over north Tamil Nadu.

In the meantime, the southwest monsoon has been withdrawing from eastern and southern parts. Withdrawal of southwest monsoon is seen from some more parts of Bihar, Jharkhand, Chhattisgarh; some parts of Gangetic West Bengal & Odisha; some more parts of Karnataka and remaining parts of Telangana, Maharashtra and Central Arabia.

The final withdrawal of the southwest monsoon is likely between October 20 and October 26. Northeast monsoon rains are likely to commence over southeast peninsular India during the same period.

The IMD has forecast overall rainfall activity is likely to be normal to above normal over extreme south Peninsular India, plains of northwest India, central and adjoining east India and below normal over northeast India after October 20.

A cyclonic circulation lies over north Tamil Nadu & neighbourhood and a trough runs from this cyclonic circulation to Comorin area in lower tropospheric levels. It will increase rainfall activities isolated pockets of Tamil Nadu, Rayalaseema, and Andhra Pradesh.

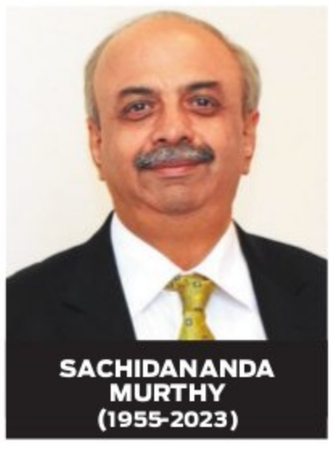
Amidst the chaos of the newsroom, 'Sachi Sir' was the eye of the storm

CITHARA PAUL @ Kochi



THE venue was The WEEK's annual conference. That time, Tamil Nadu politics was going through lots of churning due to the illness of the then chief minister J Jayalalitha.

Correspondents from other states asked the Tamil Nadu correspondent how is she able to cope with the high-voltage drama that was happening there. Sachi Sir, who overheard this conversation, commented: "These are the moments when a journalist comes alive... Moments where one feels proud of being a journalist."

That was Sachidananda Murthy. News always excited him. It was a case of more the merrier for him. He loved being in the midst of chaos and excelled in it.

Being a reporter-turned-Editor, he always had his ears close to the ground. He knew things better than most beat correspondents. Whether it is politics, finance, or defence, he had sources all over. Naturally, he was someone no reporter could bluff to. I have personally witnessed many journalists at the receiving end of Sachi Sir's sharp wit and sarcasm. But there was no bad blood as all knew he meant only good. He was a great mentor, always willing to guide.

Sachi Sir was also the life of office parties. He loved his drinks and would be happy to see if others too shared the same love. It was in those moments that the 'shaayar' in him would come out. He would hum old Bollywood melodies with abandon. And he always had good listeners.

Even when his health was failing him and he had great difficulty in walking, his passion for life and journalism was awe-inspiring.

As juniors, one could only hope and aspire that we, too, had the same energy and drive as he did. You will be dearly missed, Sachi Sir.

Post-Covid woes: Laboured breathing, fatigue

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

MANY Covid-19 patients faced dyspnoea, fatigue and mental health issues even a year after discharge from hospital, according to a study by the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) on post-infection impact.

The other common health issues reported among patients were weakness of limbs, bodyaches, joint pain, cough, headache, vomiting, chest pain, fever, and loss of taste or smell.

A mapping of patients from 31 hospitals across India between September 2020 and October 2022 showed that those who died within 90 days of discharge were above 60 years of age, and most had required intensive care.

It also said that most deaths were due to heart failure or myocardial infarction.

The study, which was published in BMJ Global Health Journal, said that 18.6% out of 8,042 patients reported dyspnoea or laboured breathing in the first follow-up visit for a check-up within six months of the discharge.

Another 10.5% complained of fatigue, and 9.3% had mental health problems, said the study.

The study also found that after a year, when 2,192 patients were studied, these instances came down.

The dyspnoea cases were down to 11.9%, fatigue to 6.6% and mental health 9%, said the study, which based its findings on the National Clinical Registry for Covid-19, an ongoing electronic platform developed and maintained by the ICMR in collaboration with the Union health ministry and All India Institute of Medical Sciences, New Delhi; and ICMR-National Institute of Medical Statistics.

The study said a definitive cause of death was available in only 137 patients; the majority (88, 64.2%) had died owing to cardiac causes that included heart failure and myocardial infarction.

Respiratory failure and sepsis/septic shock caused death among 26 (19%) and 15 (10.9%) participants, respectively. As many as 47% (204 of 434) of the patients who did not survive until the second follow-up died at home, while the rest (53%; 230 of 434) died at a healthcare facility. The median gap between discharge and death from the hospital was 14 days.

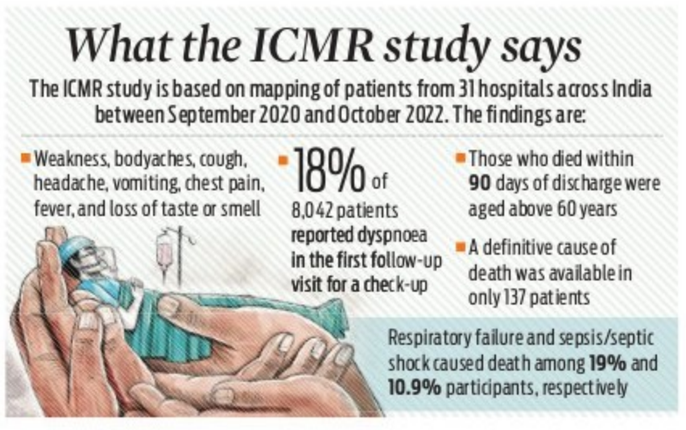
The study recommended a holistic management of cases to keep post-Covid complications under check.

"Hospitalised patients with Covid-19 experience a variety of long-term sequelae after discharge from hospitals which persists, although in reduced proportions, until 12 months post-discharge," said the study.

"While dyspnoea, mental health issues and fatigue were highest among patients admitted during the second wave of Covid-19, the post-discharge death before the first follow-up was highest among the patients admitted during the third wave of Covid-19," it said.

The study also recommended that as Covid-19 survivors have been reporting symptoms pertaining to multiple organ systems, it is advisable to have a dedicated outpatient clinic for them managed by physicians trained in the needs and clinical management of post-Covid condition/syndrome.

It said that considering the high load of post-Covid symptoms among the old, a geriatric medicine specialist is needed. The study also suggested mental health services with functional linkage with peer support groups and suicide helplines be established.



What the ICMR study says
The ICMR study is based on mapping of patients from 31 hospitals across India between September 2020 and October 2022. The findings are:
Weakness, bodyaches, cough, headache, vomiting, chest pain, fever, and loss of taste or smell
18% of 8,042 patients reported dyspnoea in the first follow-up visit for a check-up
Those who died within 90 days of discharge were aged above 60 years
A definitive cause of death was available in only 137 patients
Respiratory failure and sepsis/septic shock caused death among 19% and 10.9% participants, respectively

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE MP Congress party is set to release the first list of candidates on October 15, the first day of Navratri. It is learnt that the list of approximately 130 candidates include party state president Kamal Nath. Speaking to the media after a meeting of the Central Election Committee (CEC) in the capital, Kamal Nath said the leaders held discussions for 60 seats.

"We will announce our first list of candidates after 'shradh'. Most likely it will be on October 15. We will again hold a meeting of the screening committee and the CEC and then finalise the list," he said.

The Central Election Committee meeting was chaired by the Congress President Mallikarjun Kharge and attended by senior leaders Rahul Gandhi, Kamal Nath and K C Venugopal , Ambika Soni and Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury among others.

The first list reportedly includes 15 former legislators and almost 90 current MLAs. Nath is expected to contest from his stronghold Chhindwara. Nath had earlier articulated that the Congress would reveal its candidates post the 'Pitru Paksha' period, dedicated to paying homage to ancestors, which began on September 29 and will conclude on October 14 this year.

According to sources, although the names of 103 candidates were finalised and endorsed two days ago, the announcement was deferred due to the ongoing 'Shradh' period.

In a post on X, Kharge said, "In Madhya Pradesh, youth, women, Dalits, tribals and backward classes are going to get justice in a few days. There will be a complete stop to the BJP's injustice, atrocities and corrupt misgovernance of the last 18 years."

"This time the public will not allow the formation of an undemocratic BJP government in Madhya Pradesh through the back door. This time the traitors will get a befitting reply. The Congress party is moving towards full majority. Today an important meeting of the Central Election Committee was held regarding Madhya Pradesh," Kharge added.

The 230-member Madhya Pradesh will go to polls on November 17, and the counting is on December 3.

BJP MLA joins Cong

Two-time sitting BJP MLA Narayan Tripathi resigned from the BJP. With the BJP fielding Jyotiraditya Scindia's loyalist Srikant Chaturvedi, instead of Tripathi from the Maihar seat, and latter quit the party.

Chouhan accuses Nath of duping Gandhi family

In 2018, Nath prompted Rahul to make a false promise of waiving farm loans within 10 days of coming to power. Nath has duped Priyanka by prompting her to do the same

Shivraj Singh Chouhan, CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

A day after Priyanka Gandhi Vadra made a slew of promises in poll-bound Madhya Pradesh, Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan dubbed those promises as "a pack of lies." He accused state Congress chief Kamal Nath of duping the Gandhi family.

"It was the Gandhi family that first duped one and all. But it's Kamal Nath who is now duping the Gandhi family. What happened with Priyanka ji on Thursday speaks volumes about it," said Chouhan in Bhopal on Friday.

In a rally in Mandla district on Thursday, Priyanka Gandhi had made a slew of new promises.

"She first read out a speech, which contained the promise of free education up to Class 12. Later, she read out that an annual stipend spanning between ₹500 and ₹1,500 will be given to the students of Classes 1 to 12.

"Then Congress national general secretary in-charge of MP, Randeep Surjewala, intervened and told her that the stipends will be given on a monthly basis and not annually, upon which she questioned then why is annual stipend written in the paper given to her," Chouhan said.

He said it showed how Kamal Nath continues to dupe the Gandhi family. "In 2018, Nath prompted Rahul Gandhi to make a false promise of waiving farm loans within 10 days of coming to power. And now, Nath has duped Priyanka by prompting her also to make false promises," Chouhan said.

Questioning the Congress on Thursday's poll promises, Chouhan pointed to promises made by it in 2018, Vachan Patra (manifesto), in MP. "Congress' 2018 Vachan Patra contained a promise of providing free books, uniforms and other study materials to school students. But after coming to power, the Kamal Nath government shelved our previous government's Medhavi Vidyarthi Yojana and stopped giving laptops and cycles to school students."

Responding to the CM's remarks, Priyanka Gandhi took to social media platform X, "We're talking about education and children, but those who are adept at diverting public attention are understanding something else. Shivraj Ji, Congress doesn't believe in dictatorship, where there is no place for voices of its own leaders."

Priyanka's promise

Priyanka Gandhi promised in her rally on Thursday Rs 4,000 per bag to tendu leave pluckers and fill the backlog of SC/ST posts in government departments, besides free education of students up to Class 12

Jolt to Soren as plea against ED summons junked

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

IN yet another blow to Chief Minister Hemant Soren, the Jharkhand High Court on Friday rejected his petition challenging the summons issued against him by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) in land scam case. Notably, ED has summoned Soren as many as five times, but he ignored them, citing some excuses each time.

During the hearing in the division bench of Chief Justice Sanjaya Kumar Mishra and Justice Ananda Sen, senior advocates P Chidambaram, Kapil Sibal and advocate Piyush Chitresh presented their side on behalf of CM Soren, whereas ASG Additional Solicitor General SV Raju argued on behalf of ED.

During the hearing, the ED said that the CM had already violated the summons as he did not appear on any summons issued by it. There is no justification for him to challenge the summons; therefore, he cannot be given a relief, said ED's counsel. Senior advocate Kapil Sibal told the court that no case is registered against the CM. Therefore, it is not appropriate for the ED to summon him. Moreover, it is also not clear if he is being summoned as a witness or an accused by the ED.

Bihar govt nod to reservation for SCs, STs in promotions

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

Ghar wapsi: Cong leaders return to party in Punjab

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

IN a setback to the BJP, several leaders including former ministers Raj Kumar Verka, Balbir Singh Sidhu and Gurpreet Singh Kangar, who had quit Congress last year to join the saffron party, rejoined their parent party on Friday.

Sidhu, a former three-time MLA from Mohali, was the health minister in the Congress government, while Kangar, a former three-time MLA from Rampura Phul, was the revenue minister.

Verka, a prominent Dalit leader from the Majha region, who was also a former three-time legislator from Amritsar (West), was the minister for social justice and empowerment and minorities in the previous government.

Sidhu and Gurpreet Kangar were dropped from the state cabinet after the Congress replaced Capt Amarinder Singh with Charanjit Singh Channi as the chief minister last year.

Others who rejoined Congress were Jeet, Mahinder Singh Sidhu, Hans Raj Joshan, Mohinder Kumar Rinwa, Kamaljit Singh Dhillon and Karanveer Singh. The party called the rejoining "ghar wapsi" (homecoming).

Mann calls 2-day House session, Guv says 'illegal, unlawful'

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

DAYS after the AAP-led Punjab government called a two-day sitting of the Assembly, the office of Governor Banwarilal Purohit said that the session scheduled for October 20-21, being projected as an extension of the Budget session, is "illegal" and any business conducted during will be "unlawful".

This is the second time this year that a row between the Bhagwant Mann-led government and the governor has erupted over the summoning of the Assembly sitting.

"In the present case, calling a special session of the fourth budget session of the 16th Punjab Vidhan Sabha, suggesting that it is a continuance of the fourth session which was adjourned sine die on June 20, is "an attempt to extend the budget session which was summoned by the governor for March 3, 2023, and which stood concluded on March 22, after the completion of the agenda for business," the letter dated October 12 said.

"Any such extended session is bound to be illegal, and any business conducted during such sessions is unlawful, and ab initio void [having no legal effect]," it added.

"Based on legal advice and for reasons stated in the said letter, the governor had pointed out that the calling of such a session was patently illegal, against the accepted procedures and the practice of the legislature, and against the provisions of the Constitution," it reads.

Earlier, the assembly session on June 19-20 was declared a "breach of law" by the Governor's office. In this session, several Bills including Sikh Gurdwaras Amendment for making Gurbani free-to-air, were passed.

24 cops jailed for 10 yrs for arming C'garh Maoists

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

A special court of Rampur in Uttar Pradesh on Friday awarded a 10-year jail term along with a fine of Rs 10,000 each to 24 police personnel, including two personnel of the Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF) and 22 cops, in a case of an arms' supply to maoists in Chhattisgarh in 2010.

As many as 76 CRPF personnel died and eight maoists were killed in Dantewada in Chhattisgarh in April 2010.

The court of Special Judge (EC Act) Vijay Kumar had declared the accused guilty on Thursday. Of the 22 personnel, most belonged to the UP Police and Provincial Armed Constabulary (PAC). The main accused died during the trial that lasted over a decade.

Rampur additional district government counsel (criminal) (ADC) Pratap Singh Maurya said, "All the convicts were taken into custody on Thursday after the court found them guilty." Maurya said the incident happened in 2010 when the superintendent of UP Special Task Force (STF), posted in Lucknow, received inputs about the supply of cartridges, arms and ammunition to maoists and terrorists of Chhattisgarh from Rampur through a person who was based in Allahabad (now Prayagraj).

On April 29, 2010, the STF arrested three persons – Yashonandan, a retired sub-inspector of PAC, Vinod Paswan and Vinesh Kumar from Rampur. Vinod and Vinesh were posted as havildar with CRPF's Rampur centre. The STF had recovered a cache of cartridges along with Insas rifles and cash.

In all, ammunition in 12 sacks was found. After the FIR, all three were sent to judicial custody. On another tip-off given by Yashonandan, another person named Nathiram Saini was arrested from Moradabad, said Maurya. The UP STF ended up arresting and booking 23 cops. According to Maurya, Yashonandan had provided a diary with the names of the accused and details of their respective bank accounts.

Maurya said most of the 23 personnel arrested later were posted with armouries in various districts across UP. "They were accused of supplying ammunition to Maoists in an attack on a CRPF contingent in Dantewada in Chhattisgarh in April 2010," said Maurya.

All accused were found guilty by the Rampur court under Sections 409 (criminal breach of trust by a public servant, or by banker, merchant or agent), 413 (habitually dealing in stolen property), and 120B (criminal conspiracy) of Indian Penal Code (IPC).

As per the ADC, Yashonandan was made the main accused in the chargesheet following the probe into the case.

'Old-timers ignored': Rift in Bengal BJP intensifies, party chief warns of action

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

EMBARRASSING the party before next year's Lok Sabha elections, BJP's West Bengal hierarchy witnessed unprecedented discontent within the party workers who staged demonstration in front of the Salt Lake and Kolkata party headquarters on two consecutive days from Wednesday throwing stones on the photos of their state leaders.

Alleging that the state leadership is ignoring party's old-timers and giving more priority to the turncoats, the irked workers were seen stamping on the photos and banners of state leaders like Bengal chief Sukanta Majumdar, state president Amitava Chakrabarty, general secretary (organisation) and central leader Amit Malaviya and others lying scattered on road in front of the party offices.

Embarrassed with the infight, Majumdar said all dissident workers would be identified and stern action would be taken against them which may include expulsion from the party.

The discontent within the party which was displayed publicly is said to be significant issue which may cause damage to the party's electoral performance in the next year's general elections. "Union Home minister Amit Shah, during his previous Kolkata visit, had announced that the BJP would secure victory in 35 Lok Sabha seats out of 42 in Bengal. But the way our party workers expressed their discontent against the state leadership does not reflect the spirit of the party to meet the goal set by Shah," admitted a senior BJP leader.

An army of dissident BJP workers from districts like North 24 Parganas, South 24 Parganas, Birbhum, Hooghly and Howrah on Thursday afternoon assembled in front of the BJP's Murli Dhar Sen Lane headquarters under the banner of prescheduled "save BJP" programme.

On the previous day, a section of BJP workers broke open the lock of the party's Salt Lake office and barged in. No state BJP leadership was present inside the office and the agitating workers shouted slogans saying, "We won't party to sell itself to others. The state BJP leadership has pathetically failed to lead the party properly to fight against the ruling TMC. TMC leaders are being given space in BJP with priority."

A number of TMC leaders, including the LoP Suvendu Adhikari, had defected from their mother organisation and joined the BJP before the 2021 Assembly elections, after the saffron camp performed impressively in the 2019 LS polls by bagging 18 out of 42 seats in the state.

PRAYERS AND PROTESTS

WAVE OF SUPPORT ACROSS MIDEAST FOR PALESTINIANS

JERUSALEM

THOUSANDS of protesters poured onto the streets of several Middle East capitals on Friday in support of Palestinians amid Israeli air strikes on Gaza in reprisal for a surprise Hamas attack.

"No to the occupation! No to America!" chanted demonstrators gathered in central Baghdad after Shiite leader Moqtada Sadr called for a protest "in support of Gaza" and against Israel, an AFP journalist reported. "This rally is aimed at condemning what is happening in occupied Palestine, the bloodletting and the violation of rights," said Abu Kayan, an organiser of the protest. Anti-Israel protests were also held in Iran on Friday. In the capital Tehran, demonstrators waved Iranian, Palestinian, and Lebanese Hezbollah flags and held banners reading "Down with America" and "Down with Israel," an AFP journalist said. Similar gatherings took place in other cities across Iran, where American and Israeli flags were burned.

In Pakistan's capital of Islamabad, some worshippers trampled on American and Israeli flags. "International media and international courts turn a blind eye to the injustices with the Palestinians. But they only notice the actions that the Palestinians take to defend themselves," said Faheem Ahmed, a worshipper in Karachi. "They call it terrorism."

In Egypt, videos on social media showed hundreds of protesters near Cairo's Al-Azhar mosque chanting in solidarity with Gaza. "Arab and Muslim countries have the duty and the responsibility to provide urgent humanitarian aid and help to the Palestinians of Gaza," the university of Al-Azhar, the highest institution in Sunni Islam, said.

In Jordan, this has long had a peace treaty with neighbouring Israel, more than 20,000 people gathered in central Amman, near the Grand Husseini Mosque, after a call for protests from the Jordanian Muslim Brotherhood, and several leftist and youth groups. Masses of demonstrators filled the streets, waving Palestinian flags and chanting "the people want the liberation of Palestine."

In the Gulf state of Bahrain, hundreds of worshippers chanted "Death to Israel!" and "Death to America!" ahead of Friday prayers at Diraz mosque. They then joined a protest march, some of them waving Palestinian flags and others stamping on Israeli and US emblems that were laid on the ground. Agencies

50-year-old Israeli embassy employee in China stabbed

BEIJING

A 50-year-old Israeli man who works at the Israeli Embassy in Beijing was stabbed on Friday in front of a supermarket, Chinese police and the Israeli government said.

Beijing police said they had arrested a suspect, a 53-year-old foreign man. They described the victim as a family member of an Israeli diplomat. No motive was given for the attack,

"The employee was transferred to hospital and he is in a stable condition," an Israeli government statement said, without giving additional details. A video showed a man with a knife grappling with another man on the ground and stabbing him several times, leaving a trail of blood stains on the sidewalk.

Also on Friday, Israel sharply criticised China's statement about the initial Hamas attack. Israel's Foreign Ministry said Ambassador Rafi Harpaz had expressed his country's "deep disappointment" to China's envoy for the Middle East, Zhai Jun. The two diplomats talked by phone on Thursday.

There was "no clear and unequivocal condemnation of the terrible massacre committed by the terrorist organisation Hamas against innocent civilians and the abduction of dozens of them to Gaza," Israel said. "The Chinese announcements do not contain any element of Israel's right to defend itself and its citizens, a fundamental right of any sovereign country that was attacked in an unprecedented manner and with cruelty that has no place in human society." Agencies

We have your back: US Def Secy to Israel

TEL AVIV

US Defence Secretary Lloyd Austin told Israeli leaders that "we have your back" as he reaffirmed US support in the first week of their war against the militant Hamas group. He voiced little public criticism of their stunning demand that some 1 million civilians evacuate northern Gaza.

Austin, the second high-level US official sent by President Joe Biden to visit Israel in two days, was seeing some of the firsthand weapons and security assistance that Washington rapidly delivered to Israel after it was attacked. He stressed that "this is a time for resolve and not revenge, for purpose and not panic and for security and not surrender."

US Defence Secretary Lloyd Austin (R), is greeted by Israel's Minister of Defence Yoav Gallant as he arrives at the Ministry of Defence in Tel Aviv, Israel on Friday | AP

Asked about the likelihood of civilian casualties in Gaza, Austin said Israel has the right to defend itself and added that he has worked with Israeli forces over the years, when he was in the military.

"They are professional, they are disciplined and they are focused on the right things," he said, after meeting for nearly two hours with Minister of Defence Yoav Gallant and the Israeli War Cabinet. Before the press conference, Austin met with PM Benjamin Netanyahu, reassuring the prime, "As the president said, we have your back." He added, "We do stand with you, Mr. Prime Minister."

Austin also said that Hamas fighters took "evil to another level" from Islamic State jihadists. "In encountering ISIS, I felt as if we were staring evil in the eye—it was truly evil," said Austin after talks with Gallant. "And what we've seen from Hamas, it takes that evil to another level." Austin underlined that there is "never any justification for terrorism and that's especially true after this rampage by Hamas." Agencies

Macron calls attack on teacher at school as Islamist terrorism

ARRAS

A man of Chechen origin stabbed to death a teacher and severely wounded two other adults on Friday at a school in France, with President Emmanuel Macron denouncing an act of "Islamist terror." The attack in the town of Arras comes with France, which has large Jewish and Muslim populations, on high alert for security risks following the Hamas attack on Israel last weekend.

"This school was struck by the barbarity of Islamist terrorism," Macron said after visiting the school in Arras, saying the victim had "probably saved many lives" with his courage in seeking to block the attacker.

Macron said a second attack had been foiled elsewhere in France by security forces on Friday, but did not give details. The suspected attacker, Mohammed Moguchkov, who is in his 20s, was arrested by police. He is from Russia's mainly Muslim southern Caucasus region of Chechnya and was already on a French national register known as "Fiche S" as a potential security threat, a police source told AFP, and under electronic and physical surveillance by France's domestic intelligence agency, the DGSI.

Moguchkov cried the Arabic phrase "Allahu akbar!" (God is greatest!), according to the preliminary elements of the investigation. The victim, a French teacher, was stabbed in the throat and chest.

Those wounded were a school security agent who was stabbed multiple times and fighting for his life and a teacher who is in a less serious condition, the source added. No pupils at the school were hurt, said another police source.

Moguchkov's profile is one of "a radicalised individual whose potential (to act) is known, but who suddenly decides to take action," a French intelligence source, who asked not to be named, told AFP.

Police say Moguchkov's brother, aged 17, was detained close to another school.

The attack comes almost three years to the day after the October 16, 2020 beheading of teacher Samuel Paty, also by a Chechen, near his school. AFP

Top 3 IT firms' headcount falls by 25,000 in H1

They have started utilising their existing talents and upskilling them with emerging technologies such as Gen AI

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

TOP three Indian IT services companies in terms of revenues- Tata Consultancy Services (TCS), Infosys and HCLTech, cumulatively reduced their workforce by 25,000 in the first six months of this fiscal year.

In Q2 alone, these companies reported a decline of 16,162 employees, indicating client decision-making delays and macroeconomic headwinds. These companies have started utilising the existing talents and upskilling them with emerging technologies such as Gen AI.

"The current drop in headcount is a flab shedding and load balancing activity that enterprises are carrying out amidst margin pressures," Kamal Karanth, co-founder of staffing firm Xpheno, said.

Services sector is facing headwinds from lower global tech spends of large consumers and discretionary spend on technology remaining low.

ATTRITION RATE AT TOP IT FIRMS

COMPANY	HEADCOUNT			ATTRITION(%)
	31-Mar-23	30-Sep-23	Total reduction	31-Mar-23	30-Sep-23
TCS	6,14,795	6,08,985	5,810	20.1	14.9
Infosys	3,43,234	3,28,764	14,470	20.9	14.6
HCLTech	2,25,944	2,21,139	4,805	19.5	14.2

While new order pipelines have been booked, a lag in the revenue and returns are a setback for services players, he added.

While Infosys said they are not going to campuses for fresher hiring, HCLTech said a lot of freshers they hired in the past are now ready to be deployed. Attrition rate has dropped in the last six months from about 20% to 14% as of September 2023, and companies are also not backfilling attrition.

"Given the near-term margin pressures, dropping costs and increasing utilisation rates are key for large employers. This dual correction much needed to go past the current and near-term adversity necessitates headcount corrections and resiing of the workforce. The sector is in a phase of corrective and cautionary optimisation of headcounts to protect margins and avert high burn rates," Karanth said.

Prospective campus recruitment activities could be impacted during the subsequent quarter, mainly due to project cancellations and an unpredictable demand landscape, as reported by an IT giants during Q2 result, said NLB Services.

Are AI and automation playing a role in this reduction? Karanth said these are not drivers of the current headcount reduction, as internally enterprises have some distance to cover on operating maturity that can eliminate headcounts in high volume.

"The fact that per person productivity ratios measured in terms of people cost to revenue has not grown much since the AI and automation initiatives were introduced. The ability to replace headcounts can only be achieved when this per capita productivity multiplies and stays consistent," he added.

Exports dip 2.6% in Sept, trade deficit at five-month low

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE country's exports declined by 2.6% in September to $34.5 billion in September as compared to the same month in the previous year, commerce ministry data showed on Friday.

This is the fifth month in FY24 when exports registered a decrease year-on-year (YoY) led by affected sectors such as gems and jewellery, petroleum and chemicals, among others. Dip in imports led to trade deficit narrowing down by 31%, five month-low of $19.4 billion in September. During April-September of FY24, exports contracted by 8.77% to $211.4 billion and imports fell by 12.23% to $ 326.98 billion.

Petroleum imports dipped 20.3% to $14 billion in September, while its exports fell by 10.6% to $6.49 billion. Gems and jewellery exports saw a fall of over 16% to $3.18 billion in September. "Gems and jewellery segment is affected due to Russia-Ukraine conflict and now the Israel-Palestine war will have adverse impact. We don't see much (impact) unless and until it gets escalated over a period of time so we are waiting and watching," said commerce secretary Sunil Barthwal.

Notwithstanding the decline in trade, certain sectors including non-petroleum and non-gems/jewelry exports, engineering goods, marine products, electronic goods, ceramic products, drugs/pharma, and iron ore showed positive growth. Agricultural exports including spices, fruits and vegetables, oil seeds and coffee also registered growth during April-September 2023.

After a reconciliation process with Customs, revised data showed India's exports for August 2023 estimated to be higher at $38.4 billion, indicating a growth of 3.88% as against the previous year. This revision comes after the initial announcement of a 6.8% fall in exports last month.

Director General of Foreign Trade Santosh Sarangi highlighted said positive growth in August marks the first month of the current financial year with such progress. The commerce secretary expressed optimism, citing the resilience of services exports and the diminishing fall in merchandise exports. He anticipates positive growth in exports for the remaining six months of the year.

Besides this, as per Barthwal, negotiation on the India-UK free trade agreement (FTA) is at an advanced stage and the Government is making efforts to iron out differences.

No restriction on import of laptops, computers: Commerce secretary

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

COMMERCE secretary Sunil Barthwal has denied having any restrictions on import of laptop and personal computers.

He said India will not impose restrictions on laptop imports, and that the government only wants importers to keep close watch while importing these goods. The statement by the secretary comes as a big relief for tech giants like Dell, HP, Apple, Samsung and Lenovo. Companies will not be required to seek licences to import these items. All they will have to do is register themselves under the "import management system" on a portal, which will be managed by the Directorate General of Foreign Trade (DGFT).

On August 4, the government announced ban on laptops, all-in-one personal computers, and tablets. Later in the day, it clarified that there was no ban, but electronic manufacturing companies needed a licence to import these items starting November 1, 2023. The government said the purpose of the decision was to encourage the companies to start production in India.

Later the government clarified that it was not licensing but putting in place an import management system. Minister of state for electronics and IT Rajeev Chandrasekhar said the purpose is to ensure that equipment, servers, and laptops entering the digital India ecosystem originate from trusted sources.

Today, Director General of Foreign Trade Santosh Kumar Sarangi said the government is holding consultations with the industry and a new order on laptop imports will be announced by the end of October.

Meanwhile, the announcement to restrict imports of laptops and computers nudged big tech companies to apply for the revised ₹17,000 crore PLI scheme for IT hardware announced by the government in May 2023. The scheme received an overwhelming response, with 44 companies, including HP, Dell, Lenovo, Thompson, Acer, and Asus applied for it. The government said that many of them will start their production from next fiscal year only.

SINGAPORE

GDP RISES 0.7% IN Q3

The economy of Singapore grew faster than expected in the third quarter, preliminary government data showed on Friday. The country's gross domestic product (GDP) increased 0.7% in July to September period on a year-on-year (YoY) basis, according to advance estimates from the trade ministry. Analysts had expected growth of 0.4%. GDP expanded 1% on a quarter-on-quarter seasonally adjusted basis in the July to September period. The numbers signal that the recovery in the city-state is gaining momentum, sustaining that performance depends on how well global demand for goods rebounds. China is contending with sluggish consumption growth and real estate slump, while US expansion is expected to slow in the remaining quarters of the year. The conflict in the Middle East is threatening to push up energy costs.

JAPAN

HOUSEHOLD INFLATION EXPECTATIONS RISE SLIGHTLY: BANK OF JAPAN

Household inflation expectations in Japan rose slightly in the July-September quarter, a central bank quarterly survey showed on Friday. The survey showed that Bank of Japan (BOJ) will scrutinise in producing new inflation forecasts at its October 30-31 policy review. The BOJ survey showed the ratio of Japanese households expecting prices to rise a year from now stood at 86.8% in September, a tad higher than 86.3% in June. Households expect inflation to accelerate by an average 10.7% a year from now, versus 10.5% seen in June. About 80.7% households expect prices to rise five years in September from 79.0% in June. The survey underscores pain from higher living costs of fuel and food, with renewed tension between Israel and the occupied Palestinian territory of the Gaza strip. BOJ scrutinises inflation through household inflation expectations whether it will sustainably achieve its 2% target on the back of solid wage gains.

ASIA

IMF SAYS ASIAN ECONOMIES UNDER STRESS ON CHINA PROPERTY WOES

Weak recovery in China and the risk of a more intense property crisis could further dent Asia's economic prospects, the International Monetary Fund (IMF) said on Friday. The global fund also warned of a cloudier outlook for the once fast-growing region. IMF said added that China's post-lockdown economic boost lost momentum earlier than expected. Sharp adjustment in China's heavily indebted property sector in the near term and the resulting slowdown in economic activity will likely spill over to the region, particularly to commodity exporters with close trade links to China. A more protracted real estate crisis and limited policy response in China would deepen the regional slowdown, it said. In its World Economic Outlook released during the annual IMF meetings in Marrakech this week, the IMF cut next year's growth estimate for Asia to 4.2% from 4.4% projected in April, and down from 4.6% forecast for this year.

'Info sharing on crypto assets to start from 2027'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Friday said G20 countries will start sharing information under Crypto Asset Reporting Framework (CARF) by 2027.

She further said to establish this process, a CARF group has been formed in September 2023. Addressing the G20 Presidency 4th Finance Minister and Central Bank Governor's press briefing in Marrakech, Morocco, Sitharaman said the G20 road map on crypto asset regulation has been accepted during the meeting, and that the meeting decided to make swift execution of the road map.

"In the next Presidency (in Brazil), the focus will be on three main issues –monitoring the implementation of regulatory activities, cross border information sharing, and looking to take the road map beyond G20 countries," FM said responding to a question.

She told media a panel discussion of eminent persons working for strengthening Multilateral Development Banks (MDBs) and the G20 Ministers was held to deliberate on the progress made by the G20 on the agenda, and discuss proposals of the independent expert group.

When asked if the Israel-Palestine conflict will derail the India-Middle East- European Economic Corridor (IMEC), she said IMEC is an India initiative, it is a long-term initiative, and though short-term glitches are a concern, it will keep engaging with the stakeholders.

ED arrests three for Taksheel IPO scam

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Friday said it has arrested three persons under money laundering act for the alleged irregularities in Taksheel Solutions public issue (IPO).

ED said it has arrested Nirmal Kotecha, Pavan Kuchana and Kishore Tapadia under the provisions of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) and were placed under judicial custody till October 25 by the Metropolitan Sessions Court at Nampally, Hyderabad on Thursday.

They are accused of formulating a carefully planned strategy to inflate the revenue of Taksheel Solutions for issuing IPO and for subsequently diverting and siphoning off the issue proceeds. Further investigation is under progress.

According to the department's release, to facilitate the IPO, Nirmal Kotecha arranged Inter-Corporate Deposits (ICDs) of Rs 34.50 crore to Taksheel Solutions Limited. Circular transactions were done with the company before the IPO, which resulted in incremental revenue and corresponding inflation of profitability, it added.

IndiGo founder Gangwal may invest in SpiceJet

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIGO co-founder Rakesh Gangwal is reportedly in talks to buy a stake in cash-starved airline SpiceJet.

The airline, however, is yet to confirm the development but the news sent its shares up as much as 20%. SpiceJet shares hit a fresh 52-week of Rs 43.82 on Friday and later closed 19.39% higher at 43.60.

The news of Gangwal investing in SpiceJet comes as the airline is grappling with financial challenges and is actively looking at fresh funding to support its growth plans.

The airline recently told the NCLT that then and aircraft lessor Celestial Aviation Services Ltd are in the advanced stages of a settlement. The airline also needs to clear dues to a bunch of other lessors besides having financial obligations towards former owner Kalanithi Maran over dues of Rs 397 crore.

SpiceJet is facing a legal challenge from Credit Suisse over a payment default.

The talks of investment also come as Gangwal is liquidating his stake in IndiGo. Gangwal held 13.23% stake in InterGlobe Aviation Ltd at the end of June quarter while his wife Shobha Gangwal held a 2.99% stakes in InterGlobe Aviation, the promoter company of IndiGo. The Chinkerpoo Family Trust, which belongs to them, held a 13.5% stake.

After an infamous tussle with co-founder Rahul Bhatia, Gangwal had last year said that he would cut his stake in IndiGo over a period of five years. His side has already reduced their stake after selling shares in a couple of bulk deals.

Discount on Russian crude declines to lowest level since March 2022

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

DISCOUNT on Russian crude oil fell $12.20 per barrel, lowest level since March 2022, according to a report by the International Energy Agency (IEA).

The weighted average crude export price increased by $8 per barrel to $81.80 per barrel in September 2023. However, the country continues to profit from oil exports, even in the face of various sanctions imposed by Western countries. According to the monthly oil data report, Russian oil export revenues surged by $1.8 billion to $18.8 billion in September 2023, marking their highest level since July 2022.

"Total oil exports increased by 460 thousand barrels per day (kb/d) to 7.6 million barrels per day (Mbd), with crude oil accounting for 250 kb/d of the increase. The weighted average crude export price rose by $8 per barrel to $81.80 per barrel, narrowing its discount to North Sea Dated to $12.20 per barrel, the lowest level since March 2022," reads the report.

Following the Ukraine and Russia war, European countries shunned importing Russian crude and gas. However, Russia diverted its supply to Asia, and India emerged as the major beneficiary of discounted Russian crude. India, which imports 85% of its total oil, significantly increased its crude imports from Russia. Prior to the Ukraine and Russia war, Russia accounted for less than 2% of India's oil imports, but in the past seven months, it has become India's top oil supplier.

As per Vortexa, a London-based market intelligence provider, in September 2023, India imported nearly 36% or 1.58 million barrels per day (Mbd) of its total crude requirement from Russia. In August 2023, the country imported 1.44 million bpd from Russia. However, as Russia's discount decreased, India began to return to its traditional suppliers, Saudi Arabia and Iraq.

Meanwhile, the report also noted that the ongoing Israel-Hamas conflict has not directly impacted oil flows. It also predicts that the global crude oil supply will increase by 1.7 million barrels per day in 2024 and 1.5 million bpd this year, reaching record highs, despite production cuts by major oil producers. The supply will come from non-Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries like the USA and Iran.

"World oil output rose 270 kb per day in September to 101.6 mb/d, led by higher production from Nigeria and Kazakhstan. The Israel-Hamas conflict has not had any direct impact on oil flows... Overall OPEC+ output is set to decline in 2023, although Iran may rank as the world's second largest source of growth after the United States," reads the report.

SHAHEEN VS INDIA'S TOP 3

When Shaheen Shah Afridi does well, Pakistan often win. Despite their good start in the World Cup, Shaheen hasn't stepped up yet. The last time he took more than three wickets was against India in Pallekele. In Ahmedabad, Babar Azam will need him to tackle the Men in Blue. And as Babar said on the eve of the game, Shaheen knows what is at stake.

TALKING POINTS

With India taking on Pakistan in Ahmedabad on Saturday, a look...

GILL 99 PER CENT AVAILABLE

Shubman Gill, who missed the first two India games, is 99 percent available for India-Pakistan clash, confirmed skipper Rohit Sharma. Gill arrived in Ahmedabad on Wednesday night and had a closed door net session on Thursday. On the eve of the match, he was with the team taking part in the training session.

20 Rohit Sharma has got out to left-arm pace 20 times in the first 10 overs in ODIs while averaging 38.85

WILL ASHWIN COME BACK?

While Rohit Sharma brought in Shardul Thakur for R Ashwin against Afghanistan in New Delhi, it will be interesting to see whether they go back to the off-spinner in Ahmedabad. Granted they do have Imam-ul-Haq at the top but Pakistan do not struggle against off-spin in white-ball cricket.

EYES ON BABAR

Babar has been scaling peaks in ODI cricket for a while now, but against India and in this World Cup, his record isn't the same. While he hopes to turn things around, he believes that the reason he hasn't scored big against India is largely due to his mistake than some bowler having an edge over him.

DID YOU KNOW?

India have beaten Pakistan every time the two sides clashed in the 50 over World Cup. Sachin Tendulkar was Man of the Match in the 3 out of the 5 World Cup matches in which he played against them (1992,2003,2011).

GOMESH S @ Ahmedabad

IT can't get bigger than this. There are rivalries that transcends sports. They are embedded in history and in the socio-cultural fabric. No matter what the occasion or where on earth, every time the two teams meet it's intense. Here, winning and losing have the ability to redefine relationships, spark hostilities and even soothe old wounds. Barcelona vs Real Madrid and Argentina vs Brazil. Closer home, India vs Pakistan. To understand the off-field magnitude and significance of the clash that is set to take place at the Narendra Modi Stadium in Ahmedabad on Saturday, one doesn't have to do much. Just listen to Pakistan captain Babar Azam during the pre-match press conference ahead of the clash against India.

The words 'big' and 'pressure' could be heard more than ten times. Almost equally from the scribes who had filled the press conference room.

The narrative was built in such a way that some questions on cricket almost got lost. After all, it is India versus Pakistan, and one can be excused for largesse. It is the contest for which the organisers, Asian Cricket Council, had a special reserve day in the middle of an already hectic Asia Cup schedule last month.

Here, there is no reserve day, but the hosts, BCCI, have organised special performances from singers Arijit Singh, Sukhwinder Singh and Shankar Mahadevan an hour before the match on Saturday. Something that was not reserved before the first match of the World Cup at the same venue. There will be a special performance during the innings break as well. The organisers would be hoping the Ahmedabad match would halt the trend of crowd thronging stadiums later in the evening to escape the heat. After all it's India and Pakistan match we are talking about. The excitement is palpable. And the anticipation is growing by the hour.

Just like the spectators and fans, Babar too sees what's happening. He knows the history and the rivalry that have been built, and later marketed (laced with a tinge of jingoism on TV) over the years. "Yes, an India Pakistan match is big game – it is a high intensity game," he admitted. At the same time he also felt the game would be an opportunity to excel. A chance to change the team's record against India in ODI World Cups. That is what he told his players.

Babar also saw humour in the build up as well. When asked whether he received a lot of messages to tell him that they should win against India at all costs, he laughed. "More than about winning, I have got more messages about tickets," he said, before emphasising that they have beaten India in recent times and are confident of doing it again.

It wasn't any different for India captain Rohit Sharma. The first question thrown at him was about the biggest rivalry in sport to be played in front of a massive home crowd and whether it could be of any disadvantage. Rohit, in his typical manner, had a smirk on his face before elaborating that the India team always get good crowds irrespective of where it's played.

The questions that followed too were about the one lakh crowd, and the builld-up that's been happening on social media. Rohit said that he has stayed off social media. While admitting that it is a big match because of the context, the India captain reiterated the one thing that he had spoken about in the lead up to this particular clash. "For us, what is important is, we're playing in opposition tomorrow (Saturday), which will be quality. So, we just all come against the quality opposition and play good cricket, which we've done in the last two games. Hopefully, we can again show some consistency in our performance, and play a good game of cricket," he said.

Virat Kohli takes part in a practice session on Friday | AFP

A good game of cricket is what everyone is expecting. Amid all the chaos ticketing, exorbitant hotel prices, the tighter-than-ever security with more than 40,000 Gujarat police personnel apart from other government security agencies, the extravaganza and add ons to the game, the anticipation of the fans, and the 30 players, there is one thing that remains constant: a good game of cricket. The teams also know what is required. Babar tried to ace his sweep shot while Mohammad Rizwan and Iftikhar Ahmed had a long nets as well. Babar is searching for runs and is hoping hit form. For India, the captain said that opener Shubman Gill, who missed the first two games, is 99 per cent available and the youngster was training with the team in the middle on Friday evening. Rohit was also confident that they have the arsenal to pick from depending on how the pitch looks.

From the morning of Saturday, Ahmedabad is going to be on hyper mode with all the buzz around the high-octane clash and it could be get chaotic as well. But the only thing that matters begins at 2 PM — a good game of cricket between India and Pakistan.

Biggest rivalry without Pakistan Chachas in stands

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

INDIA will take on arch-rivals Pakistan in the most-anticipated clash of the 2023 ODI World Cup in Ahmedabad on Saturday. The biggest sporting spectacle in the game will see who's who descending at the biggest cricket venue, the Narendra Modi Stadium in Ahmedabad. However, super fans from across the border who will be conspicuous by their absence.

Be it septuagenarian Abdul Jalil famously known as Chacha Cricket or Farooq Anjum Shah aka Chacha Pakistani, they all will have to watch the match at their respective homes as they have not been issued Indian visas yet. "He just celebrated his 74th birthday with his family on October 8. He wanted to be in Ahmedabad at the moment but didn't get an Indian visa yet," Abdul Khalid, son of Chacha Cricket, told this daily from Sialkot, Pakistan. The son said his father had visited India in 1998, 2005, 2007, 2011 and 2013 and has a lot of friends over there. "It's a big setback as he wanted to travel to India. He always gets a lot of love and respect from Indian cricket fans. He also requested the Indian government to facilitate the visit of Pakistani fans to the World Cup in India. He also requested the chairman of the PCB managing committee Mr Zaka Ashraf to play his role," the son added.

Abdul Jalil aka Chacha Cricket (L) and Farooq Anjum Shah alias Pakistani Chacha

Chacha Pakistani's story is not different as unlike his more famed compatriot this would have been his first visit to India. "I will regret this for my life. It's my lifetime wish to watch the India-Pakistan match in India but that didn't happen," Chacha Pakistani, who hails from Mangtanwala town of Nankana Sahib in the Punjab province of Pakistan, told this daily. Ever since the hosts for the tournament was announced, he was preparing for the visit but the visa hurdle has derailed all his plans. "I have been preparing for this visit for the past two years. I even got a new dress and a new hat for the tournament. I have a few friends in India and they wanted to give me a warm welcome to send a good message in both countries."

For Chacha Cricket, this edition of the marquee event is special as probably this would have been his last visit to the country given his age and health issues. "He missed a few World Cup matches but really didn't want to miss this year's edition in India. India is a cricket-loving nation and the atmosphere of matches would have been great. He even requested PCB to sponsor his trip but it asked him to wait for the visa. But he has yet not lost his hopes. He is hopeful that he may join the team in Kolkata and Bengaluru if he gets the visa," signed off the son.

Clinical New Zealand win third match in a row

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

A CAPTAIN'S knock of 78 (retired hurt) by Kane Williamson and an unbeaten 89 by Daryl Mitchell propelled New Zealand to an eight-wicket win over Bangladesh in the ICC World Cup match played at the MA Chidambaram stadium here under lights on Friday. The duo added 108 runs in 109 balls for the unfinished third wicket. Kane Williamson was struck on the left thumb while taking a sharp single and had to retire. With this win, New Zealand are on top of the points table with six points.

Chasing 246 for a win New Zealand had a sedate start with Devon Conway and Rachin Ravindra playing cautiously. The latter, one of the two centurions from the opening game against England, soon departed. Williamson joined Conway and the duo slowly went about the task in a composed manner. Williamson played to the merit of the ball and was at ease with all the Bangladeshi bowlers. Only when confident, he stepped out and used his feet deftly to loft Mehidy Miraz and others for a boundary. Williamson played with responsibility and also lifted his game to negate the asking rate.

New Zealand players celebrate a wicket at Chepauk on Friday | ASHWIN PRASATH

Conway (45), when he was well set for a big innings, went for a reverse paddle shot, missed the line to be trapped in front by Shakib.

Earlier, riding on Mushfiqur Rahim's 66 off 75 balls and useful contributions from Shakib (40) Mahmudullah (41 not out), Bangladesh posted 245 for 9. Mushfiqur could play both the Kiwi speedsters and spinners with equitable ease. On the other hand, Shakib, due to pressure, could not play freely.

Brief scores: B'desh 245/9 in 50 ovs (Rahim 66, Mahmudullah n.o 41; Boult 2/45, Ferguson 3/49) lost to NZ 248/2 in 42.5 ovs (Williamson retd hurt 78, Mitchell n.o 89).

On return, Williamson shows Kiwis his value

KALYANI MANGALE @ Chennai

'NAU mai hoki mai', is how they say 'Welcome Back' in Maori, the indigenous language of mainland New Zealand. There were not many Maori speaking people at the MA Chidambaram Stadium here, but when Kane Williamson walked out to the middle for the toss against Bangladesh, the feeling was unanimous. After a seven-month long injury hiatus that started in India, the 33-year-old got one of the loudest cheers when the DJ announced his name. Even when the announcer made a mistake and said 'New Zealand Captain, Tom Latham' the crowd let him know that it was Williamson leading the side.

You can imagine the loyal Chennai Super Kings fan base cheering their hearts out for Devon Conway and Mitchell Santner. They are more or less two local boys for the crowd as Santner has been part of the side since 2019 and Conway since 2022. 'Kane Mama', as he is affectionately named by the fans, spent eight years with Sunrisers Hyderabad before moving to Gujarat Titans ahead of the 2023 season. But one glance at the 14,369 strong attendance at Chepauk, and you could see a sizable number of crowd donning the NZ jersey no 22. "With the World Cups, usually the home countries are the favourites. But because of IPL, for many international players, India is their second home," Sasikumar, a local fan, told this daily. "Many people will tell you that New Zealand is their second favourite cricket team. It's because of the way they play their cricket and handle themselves on the field. I think, for most of us, after MS Dhoni, Kane is one of the coolest captains," he added.

And he did not disappoint the crowd. Williamson didn't go gung-ho from the first delivery. Shoriful Islam tested him with a persistent line and length, but Williamson just let it go. Conway's wicket ended a partnership of 80 runs, but Williamson kept on batting. He brought up his half-century on the return and even added a century partnership with number four, Daryl Mitchell. With everything hinting towards a memorable evening for Williamson, at the start of the 38th over, he got hit on the thumb. He walked away when his team was inching closer to the target. The worried murmurs in the crowd followed. But with 78 runs on his account, Williamson had done his job.

Cricket set to be included in 2028 LA Olympics

ENS/AGENCIES @ Mumbai

The International Olympic Committee executive board after its two-day meeting forwarded five sports, including cricket, to be included in the LA 2028 Olympics for voting during its 141st IOC Session the be held over Sunday to Tuesday. The EB passed the five sports — baseball-softball, flag football, lacrosse (sixes) and squash — that have been approved by the organising committee of the LA 2028 Games.

The IOC president, Thomas Bach, during a press conference said that the LA 2028 proposal was in line with their sports culture. "The IOC had to take three different decisions. (The) first was about the proposal of the Los Angeles organising committee to introduce five new sports. These five sports are baseball-softball, flag football, lacrosse (sixes), squash and cricket,' Bach said on Friday. "We see growing popularity of cricket, particularly the T20 format. The World Cup (50 overs) is a huge success already," he added. "The proposal from LA was six teams per sport in each of the team sport (that) they have put forward for both men and women, underlying gender equality across the overall package," said IOC's director of sports Kit McConnell.

"Now, that number as we mentioned earlier if it is confirmed by the Session to be in the programme, all of those athlete numbers would be confirmed along with the sports," he said. "We are still in the proposal mode. We will first need the word of the (IOC) Session in the coming days," Bach said.

Cricket's shortest format along with baseball-softball, lacrosse (sixes), squash and flag football are the five sports proposed only for the 2028 edition. If approved, cricket will be a part of the Olympics for the first time since 1900. "Baseball/softball, cricket (T20), flag football, lacrosse (sixes) and squash are the five sports submitted by the International Olympic Committee (IOC)'s Executive Board (EB) to the upcoming IOC Session as additional sports for the Olympic Games Los Angeles 2028 (LA28)," the IOC said in a statement.

NILGIRI TAHR BECOME LOCALLY EXTINCT

IN 14% OF HISTORIC SHOLA-GRASSLAND HABITAT, REVIVAL EFFORTS ON

S V KRISHNA CHAITANYA @Chennai

THE Nilgiri Tahr, whose ecological and cultural significance dates back to the late Mesolithic period, is today in peril. Historically present in much of the Western Ghats, the Tahr inhabits only a few scattered habitat patches within Tamil Nadu and Kerala and is restricted to a mere 5% area of Western Ghats within a narrow stretch of 400 km between the Nilgiris hills in the north and Asambu hills in the south. As per the latest study done by WWF-India in association with the Tamil Nadu forest department, the 'Mountain Monarch' has become locally extinct from around 14% of its historic shola-grassland habitat within the past few decades. To reverse this trend, the Tamil Nadu government is contemplating major conservation interventions. Chief Minister M K Stalin launched the Nilgiri Tahr Project earlier this week.

The study says there are 123 habitat fragments ranging in area from 0.04 sq,km to 161.69 sq.km totalling to an area of 798.60 sq.km with the confirmed occurrence of Nilgiri Tahr. Among these, there are 20 fragments where the Tahr is locally extinct.

Based on the latest species distribution data and the known connectivity and habitat suitability, the entire species range is divided into five conservation blocks — Nilgiri Hills; Siruvani Hills; The High Ranges and Palani Hills; Srivilliputhur, Theni Hills and Tirunelveli Hills; and KMTR and Ashambu Hill. Some of these blocks are only tenuously connected, while others have no connectivity due to the presence of anthropogenic or natural barriers, including roads, plantations, settlements, rivers and dense forests.

The Nilgiri Tahr Project

Since the Nilgiri Tahr's distribution is already scattered and limited to five blocks, it is important to conserve the existing habitat and to establish the connectivity within and between blocks through land use planning and habitat restoration. Tamil Nadu Chief Wildlife Warden told TNIE: "This is a five-year project with several short and long-term goals. To start with, we are gearing-up for the first synchronised census in coordination with the Kerala forest department to get the current population, identify conservation challenges etc. Also, habitat improvement and restoration will kick-start. Next, we will radio collar a few individuals, which would be first-of-its-kind for any mountain ungulate in India, to get more information on animal movement, behaviour and home range."

On re-introduction of the Tahr in historic habitats, Reddy said it can't be done immediately. As part of the Tahr project, habitat viability and risk assessment will be done. It will take at least a couple of years for this exercise. One area WWF-India suggested for pilot reintroduction was Glenmorgan mountains in the Nilgiris that used to be the original habitat of the Tahr. However, the small herd present here appears to have become extinct a few decades ago. "WWF India had done a habitat assessment of the Glenmorgan area in the Nilgiris to know the potential to reintroduce the Tahr to this historical site to begin with. If successful, plans for reintroduction at other locally extinct sites can be chalked out. There is a herd from the Western catchment area of the Mukurthi National Park that is semi-habituated for human presence. A few individuals from this herd can be reintroduced to the Glenmorgan hills. These reintroduced populations would be extensively monitored to understand the adaptation and challenges in the process," WWF-India informed the Tamil Nadu forest department in its assessment.

Ecological importance

Experts say the Nilgiri Tahr is a generalist in food habits and has been observed to feed on around 120 species of plants, including grasses, herbs, shrubs, leguminous plants and a few tree species. Grazing by Nilgiri Tahr contribute to maintaining essential ecosystem processes through nutrient recycling in the high altitude shola-grasslands system, which are one of the most threatened ecosystems worldwide. The shola-grassland ecosystems, which occur at an elevation band between 1,400 and 2,700 m, store most of their carbon underground in extensive root systems and soil. Studies also show that tussock grasses such as Chrysopogon nodulibarbis, Themeda triandra, Andropogon polyptychus and Dichanthium foulkelsii, which can live for over 600-1,000 years, can sequester surprisingly large amounts of carbon in the soil. In fact, grassland and shrubland restoration are key to climate resilience and are actually more reliable carbon sinks than forests, because all the carbon storage happens below the ground surface. "So, it is vital that we protect and sustain a good population of Nilgiri Tahr to allow the grassland and shrubland to do their climate job. Within a month, we will be conducting a symposium in Coimbatore where all experts will be invited to help us draw a roadmap for the Nilgiri Tahr Project," Additional Chief Secretary Supriya Sahu to government, Environment, Forests and Climate Change Department, said.

Fragmented populations

In the last assessment done in 2015, there were 3,122 Nilgiri Tahr in the wild in Tamil Nadu and Kerala. Except for the large herds in the Nilgiris and Anamalai Hills, other populations are fairly small. Many of these habitats exist outside protected areas and have been getting further fragmented due to linear infrastructure, plantations and the spread of exotic plant species. This makes the Nilgiri Tahr Project all the more important considering it aims to grow the current populations.

HIMALAYAN HYDRO-PROJECTS

NEED PROPER GREEN IMPACT ASSESSMENT

THE Eastern Himalayan region is three times more at risk than any other region that is vulnerable to Glacier Lake Outburst Floods. Dr Kalachand Sain, Director, Wadia Institute of Himalayan Geology, says Himalayan regions provide ample opportunities for hydropower but require proper environmental impact assessment before tapping them. Such projects also need to be attached to early warning systems to reduce damage, he tells Jitendra Choubey in an interview. Excerpts:

What triggered the recent Glacier Lake Outburst Floods in Sikkim?

Based on pre- and post-disaster satellite images, there were multiple factors behind the Glacier Lake Outburst Floods (GLOF) in Sikkim. They include increase in lake water due to rapid melting of glaciers caused by global warming; snow/ice avalanches into the lake; heavy rainfall; and lateral moraine slump into the lake. Besides, there have been half-a-dozen moderate to strong magnitude earthquakes in western Nepal, approximately 700 km away from Sikkim. Their impact in triggering the GLOF cannot be underestimated. However, we cannot state that categorically unless we analyse the seismological data. Field work will definitely shed light on them.

What is the role of climate change in GLOF?

The Himalayas have the largest concentration of glaciers outside the polar regions. There is clear evidence of Himalayan glaciers melting at an unprecedented rate in recent decades under the influence of climate change. They are leading to the formation of new glacial lakes at the terminal ends behind the exposed end moraines. These, in turn, are posing the threat of GLOF.

Q&A

Is there any trend in the frequency of GLOF in India or Himalayan countries?

Shrinking of glaciers and expansion of glacier lakes pose a threat of outburst. Furthermore, avalanches in the high-slope downstream pose threat to habitation and infrastructure. There are more than 20,000 glacial lakes in the Indian Himalayan region. But only large-size moraine-dammed lakes may be dangerous, like the Chorabari lake during the 2013 Kedarnath flash flood in Uttarakhand and the recent South Lhonak lake in Sikkim. There is no study that clearly describes the trend of frequent GLOF in India and other Himalayan countries. However, researchers from the University of Potsdam are of the opinion that the risk of GLOF in the eastern Himalayas is three times higher than in any other Himalayan region.

Is there a similarity between the Uttarakhand and Sikkim tragedies in terms of environmental crisis?

There are some similarities with regard to the June 2013 Kedarnath disaster mainly caused by GLOF, the February 2021 Rishiganga-Dhauliganga deluge in Chamoli due to ice-rock avalanche, and the October 2023 Sikkim disaster caused by GLOF and dam burst. All of them were caused by flash floods, which damaged hydropower projects, bridges and roads, leading to loss of lives downstream. The triggering zones for these disasters are located in the basins dominated by snow and glaciers and glacier lakes.

There is a trend of decreasing winter snowfall in the higher altitudes of Himalayan ranges.

Though studies in many areas of the Hindukush-Karakoram-Himalaya (HKH) exhibit declining trends in snowfall and retreating glaciers during the recent decades, parts of the high-elevation Karakoram Himalaya have, in contrast, experienced increased wintertime precipitation in association with western disturbances. Future climate projections indicate a significant decrease in snowfall over several regions of the HKH.

Is there a figure on the potentially dangerous glacial lakes?

There are 503 glacial lakes that are larger than 10 hectares in the Indian Himalayan Region - close to the size of 10 rugby fields put together, according to a 2011 assessment by India's Central Water Commission. Overall, the glacial lake inventory prepared by ICIMOD in 2018 has identified 47 potentially dangerous glacial lakes (PDGLs) within the Koshi, Gandaki and Karnali river basins of Nepal, the Tibet Autonomous Region of China, and in India. However, these numbers are variable due to the formation of new lakes.

Recently in Bengaluru for a show, members of music band Lost Stories speak to CE about their music and audience

STORIES THROUGH MUSIC

MONIKA MONALISA

WHEN Lost Stories by the Mumbai-based DJ/producer duo Prayag Mehta and Rishab Joshi took over the stage at the recently-concluded Blend Bazaar, there was not a single still foot in the audience. The energy from the Bengaluru crowd surely impressed the duo like no other. "I don't remember the last time I had a bad show in Bengaluru. This city has developed a reputation for its diverse and eclectic musical tastes, and that makes us happy," says Mehta.

The duo has been working together for more than 13 years and admits to having evolved. "Rishab and I met on a social media platform; it wasn't Facebook; it was a blog. We just had this common passion for dance and music. We thought of collaborating, and that literally gave birth to Lost Stories, we really didn't know it would go so far. In fact, Lost Stories was a word play between both of us. We both came up with one word. That's how it was formed," Mehta recalls fondly.

The band has done many hit albums, singles, and official remixes. Their last collaboration was with Armaan Malik for the song HIIR was a smashing hit. "Armaan is a dear friend. We just met one day in the studio. He's one of the most talented artistes in a room. It literally took him a few minutes to come up with a hook, and we quickly put down the beats," says Joshi about the song.

With a huge following on social media, the duo is aware that in today's day and age, social media plays an important role in the career of an artiste. "We started a decade ago when social media wasn't as prevalent; Facebook had just come in. So we've seen those days. Now, we understand the value of social media. It's one of the primary media for any artiste to reach their audience. It's important for every artiste to be on it and be active at the same time. It's the power of social media, which can make an artiste big in no time," says Mehta.

Being one of the most popular names in the indie music scene, the duo has seen it evolve over the past decade. "Recent events are a prime example that indie artistes are back with a back. It's only going to get better from here," says Mehta as he signs off.

This Indo-French artist is exhibiting her works inspired by the women of Bengaluru, showcasing their dual identities

WONDER WOMEN

MONIKA MONALISA

EVER since Olympe Ramakrishna, an Indo-French artist, started painting, her favourite muse has been women. She has a lot of reasons as to why women are a constant subject to her works, but she starts with, 'Why not women?' "Being a woman myself, I have always been fascinated by femininity," adds Ramakrishna whose works are currently being exhibited at Alliance Francaise de Bangalore.

The exhibition, Women of Bangalore, has 12 of Ramakrishna's works, inspired from the women of Bengaluru. "I have to know my subject really well, the kind of people, the likes and dislikes, among others. So, all the women in the paintings are known to me. It is interesting for me as an artist because I already know their personalities," says Ramakrishna, who went to Les Beaux-arts de Paris, the Academy of La Grande Chaumiere, and the Artmedium Atelier of the 14th district. She also pursued studies in London at the Battersea Arts Centre.

While women in general is a mighty topic to explore, Ramakrishna was clear about what she wanted portrayed in her paintings. "All the women in my paintings come from a middle-class household. They have all a part of them which is very traditional and the other which is extremely modern. Coming from a country like France, this was something that was fascinating and new. They preserve their traditions at home and at the same time, when they go out, they become a different person who is completely modern," says Ramakrishna, explaining her 12 models.

It is interesting to see that in her paintings she made one of her models dress like a Maharaja. "That particular painting was inspired from the portrait I saw of the Maharaja of Indore. The friend who donned the role is a lawyer. It was fascinating," she says.

Originally from France, she married an Indian and settled in Bengaluru over a decade ago. She feels absolutely at home, with 'the dual personality' of Bengaluru making her fall in love with the city. "Bengaluru is a huge cosmopolitan city but there are parts of it which are still traditional where people still know each other from their neighbourhood, sit outside their homes to share a moment, and look out for each other. I grew up in a village in France and Jayanagar reminds of my home," she says.

(Women of Bangalore is exhibited at Alliance Francaise de Bangalore till October 29)

HARMONY IN CODING

Tracing Global Echoes in Bengaluru's Melodic Algorithms

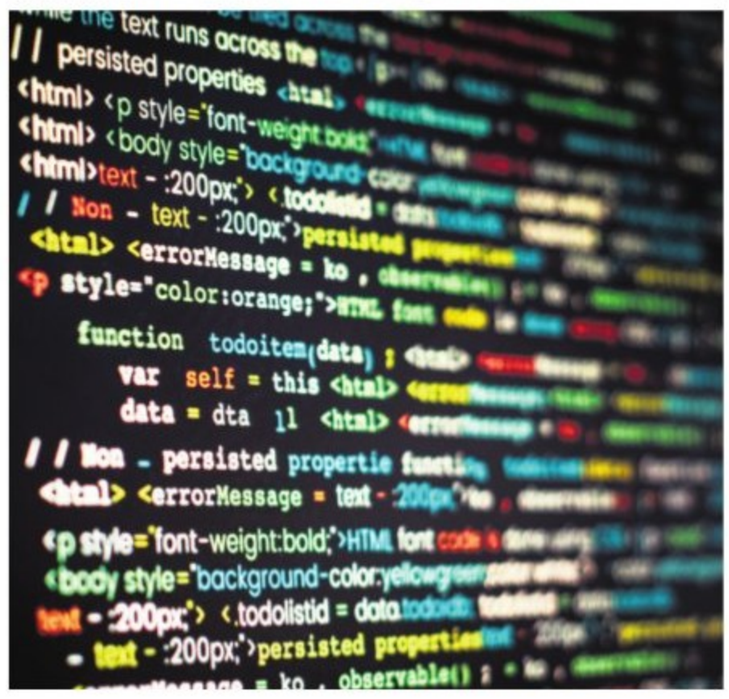
BENGALURU, a bustling metropolis celebrated as India's Silicon Valley, is a melting pot of innovation and culture. Within its vibrant lanes, a story unfolds – the harmonious blend of software development's logical precision with the emotive cadences of music. One figure exemplifying this confluence, though rooted in Chicago, is Sreedhar Srinivasan.

As a prominent User Experience (UX) expert, Sreedhar's work transcends geographical boundaries, finding resonance in cities known for technological advancements, such as Bengaluru. His unique approach marries the profound teachings of Eastern philosophy with the nuanced realm of Human-Computer Interaction (HCI). Central to his belief system is the idea that the rhythmic essence of music and the structured world of coding are intertwined, each enhancing the other.

Historically, the relationship between coding and music has been deep and rich. Both fields demand an intricate balance of creativity and systematic thought. Just as musicians pour their soul into each note, seeking perfection, programmers delve into lines of code, ensuring they function in perfect harmony. This alignment is evident in the structural patterns of a musical composition, which often mirrors the logical flow of software algorithms.

To the casual observer, juxtaposing music with coding might seem out of place. But Bengaluru's vibrant pulse tells a different story. The city's teeming tech hubs, bustling with innovators by day, transform by night as many of these same professionals take to stages, revealing their musical talents. This seamless transition from tech maestro to musical virtuoso is a testament to the city's rich cultural and technological tapestry.

Sreedhar's illustrious journey offers a masterclass in this interdisciplinary dance. While his dual STEM master's degrees in Computer Science showcase his technical prowess, it's his deep-seated passion for music that provides an added layer of depth to his professional narrative.



Sreedhar Srinivasan

During his tenure as an esteemed UX Architect, Sreedhar has engaged with a diverse range of high-profile clients, many from the tech vanguard. However, it's his musically-informed methodology that truly distinguishes him from the crowd.

His musical odyssey began with the intricate melodies of the Mridangam, a revered classical Indian instrument. The dedication, discipline, and finesse required to master such an instrument, Sreedhar opines, are analogous to the challenges and rewards of software development. By immersing himself in both domains, he has cultivated a unique perspective, allowing him to envision software designs akin to complex musical orchestrations.

A deep dive into Sreedhar's accolades reveals a tapestry woven with both technical and musical threads. His articles and writings, which offer insights into the synergy between HCI and Eastern philosophy, are enriched by his musical experiences.

Earning recognition on global platforms, Sreedhar's innovative approach stands as a beacon for the next generation of tech professionals. Although his roots trace back to Chicago, his influence reverberates strongly within Bengaluru's tech and music corridors.

As Bengaluru continues its ascent as a global tech hub, stories like Sreedhar's highlight the transformative power of interdisciplinary collaborations. These tales remind us of the boundless innovations awaiting at the crossroads of art and science.

GLORY OF PINEAPPLE IN COCKTAILS

MIXOLOGY
ABISHEK TAMANG

(The writer is bar manager, Backstreet Brewery)

INDIA is a land of abundant fruits, with different varieties ripening in each season. Fruits add a burst of freshness and flavour to cocktails, making them more enjoyable and satisfying. Many fruits can be used in their entirety, leaving no waste behind. For example, oranges, pineapples and strawberries can be blended into delicious cocktails, while their leaves and peels can be used as attractive and flavourful garnishes.

Among these, the pineapple is my favourite. It has a lovely tangy taste, and I love the fact that every part of it can be used. Most importantly, it is large in size, thus one pineapple can be used to make many of the same or different pineapple-based cocktails.

Here's how you can use different parts of a pineapple to make or garnish cocktails.

PINEAPPLE SHRUB

To make a pineapple shrub, mash some of the fruit with sugar and vinegar and let it rest overnight. You can use this shrub to make a pineapple tikki sour. Just mix 15ml of demerara syrup, 20ml of pineapple shrub, 20ml of lime juice, 15ml of aperol, 40ml of white rum and an egg white. Shake it well with ice, then without ice, and pour it into a glass.

PINEAPPLE SKIN SYRUP

Boil the pineapple skin with water in equal amounts. Strain the liquid and add sugar in the same amount. This syrup can enhance your classic pina colada which is made by blending 40ml of light rum, 30ml of dark rum, 45ml of coconut mylk, 15ml of pineapple skin syrup, a cup of frozen lime wedges, two dashes of bitters and some ice cubes. Enjoy your creamy cocktail.

Don't forget to use the pineapple leaves as garnish for your drinks. They look great and add a tropical touch. This is how you can use a whole pineapple for your cocktails without wasting anything. Cheers!

SHIVARAJKUMAR JOINS THE STAR-STUDDED CAST OF VISHNU MANCHU'S KANNAPPA

The Ghost actor will be sharing the screen with stars like Prabhas and Mohanlal

Vishnu Manchu

A SHARADHAA

THERE is growing excitement and curiosity surrounding Vishnu Manchu's ambitious project, Kannappa. While the makers had previously announced the presence of Prabhas and Mohanlal in the film, the latest is that renowned Kannada superstar Shivarajkumar has joined the project. This comes close on the heels of his stellar cameo in the recent Rajinikanth blockbuster, Jailer.

What adds extra intrigue to this project for Shivarajkumar is his prior connection to Kannappa. The actor previously portrayed the role of Dinna/Arjuna in the Kannada film Shiva Mecchida Kannappa (1988). His father and legendary actor Dr Rajkumar also headlined a film titled Bedara Kannappa (1954).

The film is being helmed by the director who previously directed the Mahabharat series for Star Plus. This tale is set to depict the extraordinary story of Kannappa and his unwavering devotion to Lord Shiva. Whether Shivanna will be portraying the role of Lord Shiva or another intriguing character is a question that awaits an official announcement from the makers, which is expected soon.

WOMEN TALKING, REJOICING

KARTIK BHARDWAJ

IN the first half hour, Dhak Dhak feels like a run-of-the-mill, coming-of-age story of women smashing patriarchy while riding bullets. Call it the critic's pessimism but films with a hook, sadly, tend to wallow in it. In an initial scene, the girl-gang at the centre of the story, manages to urinate in a field even after spotting a mongoose in the bushes. As they strap their helmets and get on their bikes an inspired village girl looks on, behind her, a PSA on the wall: Betiya dur na jaye, ghar mein hi shauchalya banwaye (Don't let girls go too far, make washrooms at home). The cliched writing was literally on the wall.

But something changes for the affirmative once the film gets deeper into its characters. We meet Shashi Kumari Yadav aka Sky (Fatima Sana Shaikh), a travel vlogger, who seems like a frivolous Gen Z influencer till she incessantly calls medical stores late in the night, asking for sleeping tablets. She is suffering the trauma of her nudes being shared online. Then there is Manpreet Singh aka Mahi (Ratna Pathak Shah), an elderly woman who won a Royal Enfield in a newspaper contest. After trying to exchange it for a microwave, she ultimately decides to teach herself how to ride it. Dia Mirza's Uzma is a burkha-clad woman with a male chauvinist husband. She can fix a spark plug with the same dexterity as she boils sewaiyan (sweet vermicelli). Manjari (Sanjana Sanghi) is introduced to us as a sheltered young girl who springs on top of a commode after spotting a cockroach, but her fear isn't the product of a patriarchal household. Rather, it has germinated because her single-mother won't let her out in the world. What is commendable is that Dhak Dhak doesn't let its characters be mere frameworks, it fleshes them enough to feel alive.

Expected to dip into familiar waters, the film manages to retain narrative novelty even when the quartet embark upon their journey to Khardung La, world's highest motorable road. The hurdles the group faces on the trip are realistic and shape the characters. Sanjana's Manjari loses her way and is helped by a truck driver who teaches her to detach herself from the problem in order to solve it. Love finds an inroad into Mahi's life when a foreigner offers to help her fix a flat tyre. Little details are more telling than prolonged sermons. Like how Sky searches for a "hidden camera" as the group checks into a hotel room. Or how Uzma silently picks up litter without preaching about how tourists malign nature's beauty.

Still, amid bouts of sharp writing, Dhak Dhak can't remain immune to melodrama for long. Somewhere during the second half it seems to lose its way and stretches a point beyond its breaking point. It also starts dipping in the road film cliches it was dexterously avoiding in the beginning. Dhak Dhak doesn't wear women empowerment on its sleeve. It's more of a celebration of womanhood. In an adorable sequence the girls get high and huddle to discuss fake orgasms. They chuckle at inane condom flavours. What is freedom if not the freedom to laugh.

The director of Avane Srimannarayana is in talks to make his Hindi debut with a mythological project starring Shahid Kapoor

Bollywood beckons Sachin Ravi

CE FEATURESE

BOLLYWOOD has come calling for director Sachin Ravi, who made his debut with the Kannada fantasy-adventure comedy Avane Srimannarayana, starring Rakshit Shetty. Sachin is currently stationed in Mumbai, and there are speculations that he might be helming a big-ticket project featuring Shahid Kapoor, and backed by Vashu Bhagnani and Jackky Bhagnani 's Pooja Entertainment banner.

When we reached out to Sachin Ravi, the filmmaker did confirm his presence in Mumbai and a possible collaboration with Shahid Kapoor. "I've been working on this project for the past year, maintaining continuous communication with the production house and the actor. However, I can't divulge many details until an official announcement is made," he tells us.

It's been hinted that this upcoming film will be an action-packed, mythology-based project inspired by the epic Mahabharata. Given Sachin Ravi's expertise in VFX, it can be assumed that technology will play a significant role in the film. More information will be unveiled as the project goes on floors in 2024, after Shahid completes his work on Roshan Andrew's Koi Shaq, in which he co-stars with Pooja Hegde.

Regarding what lead Sachin to approach Shahid, the former said, "I was presented with the opportunity to direct Shahid through a mutual connection, and that's how we got in touch."

After Avane Srimannarayana, Sachin initially announced his second project, a mythological drama titled Ashwathama, featuring Shivarajkumar. However, there were no further updates on this film. "Ashwathama has just been postponed for now," he signs off.

THE makers of Mission Raniganj: The Great Bharat Rescue announced on Friday that they have independently submitted the film for the Oscars.

The film, which received mixed reviews from critics, had a dismal run at the box office and managed to rake in just about ₹ 18 crore in its first week.

Directed by Tinu Suresh Desai, Mission Raniganj stars Akshay Kumar in the role of Jaswant Singh Gill, who, in 1989, saved the lives of 65 miners stuck in Mahabir colliery in West Bengal's Raniganj. Gill devised a special steel capsule using which the miners were rescued. He was awarded the Sarvottam Jeevan Raksha Padak for his bravery by the then President of India, Ramaswamy Venkataraman, in 1991.

Apart from Akshay and Parineeti, the film also stars Kumud Mishra, Pavan Malhotra, Dibyendu Bhattacharya Mukesh Bhatt, Akshay Verma, Ishtiyak Khan, Dinesh Lamba and Virendra Saxena.

The film is produced by Vashu Bhagnani, Jackky Bhagnani, Deepshikha Deshmukh, and Ajay Kapoor. It released in theatres on October 6.
